CARRANZA PROVES STUMBLING BLOCK TO THE MEDIATORS

A. B. C. Envoys Are Inclined to Ignore the Question of Constitutionalist Representation for the Present.

UNITED STATES FAVORS HEARING FOR CARRANZA

Believed That Washington Will Prevail and Carranza Agents Will Be Admitted. Carranza's Attitude Somewhat Embarrassing.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 31.—Upon the Washington government depends whether the mediators will receive representatives of the Mexican constitutionalists. The South American envoys, it became known tonight, virtually have resolved to go ahead with their plans for a two-party agreement between the United States and the Huerta government and for the time being ignore the question of constitutionalist representation.

Plans for New Government.

The only thing that might disturb such a course would be a direct intimation from the United States that it will withhold approval of the plans outlined for a new provisional government unless prompt disposition is made of the subject of constitutionalist participation. The Mexican delegates have had no conversations with the mediators on this point.

Each side is waiting for the other to make the first move. The Huerta delegates tomorrow expect to receive General Huerta's approval of the essentials of the peace plan, together with his opinion on some of the names suggested for the new government. The American delegates received information along this line today from Washington, but no intimation as to how far they should press the subject of constitutional representation.

At a conference at 11 o'clock tomorrow the attitude of both the mediators and the American delegates toward constitutionalist participation may be more clearly defined. Should the American delegates consent to go ahead with their earlier work on the peace plan, the mediators will continue their efforts toward an agreement. A change in their attitude toward the constitutionalists may result from an insistence on the part of the American delegates that the third element in the controversy be given opportunity to express its views.

The American Viewpoint.

The American viewpoint is that General Carranza might be invited again to treat on international questions and the internal situation could be approached at the same time. As the Huerta delegates already are discussing internal questions, it is not believed they would offer any objections to considering the same issue with representatives of General Carranza present.

The Huerta envoys see in the plan for constitutionalist representation a prolongation of the parleys, and the military situation might become increasingly grave for the Huerta government while the negotiations were in progress. It is apparent the Huerta delegates will insist on an armistice before treating with the constitutionalists.

Feeling is general here that the Washington government will be justified in insisting on broadening the mediation proceedings if necessary to complete pactification of Mexico. It would avail the United States nothing to proceed with the question of having her differences with Mexico settled, even conceding that General Huerta will be eliminated, should the method employed endanger the relations between the United States and the constitutionalists.

Embarrassed by Carranza.

While sympathizing with the constitutionalist advance on Huerta and supporting many of the reforms for which Carranza's followers are fighting, it is understood the Americans have been embarrassed in a slight degree by General Carranza's refusal to recognize the right of foreign mediators to act in respect to the setting up of a new government.

All parties to the conference agree that a military force that controls an area greater than falls under the domination of all other factions combined must be reckoned with; must have a voice in any settlement of the Mexican problem if permanency is expected. The difference, it appears, relates wholly to methods. General Carranza feels that he should have been in the conferences from the first and that he was treated with scant courtesy by the South American envoys when they withdrew their invitation to him to send delegates. The envoys, on the other hand, feel that General Carranza belittled their efforts when he declined to agree to an armistice. There the matter rested until the conferences were well under way.

Meanwhile, mediation of the controversy between the United States and General Huerta awaits arbitration by the American delegates of misunderstandings between the mediators and General Carranza.

ADMIT THE REBELS, SAYS UNITED STATES.

Washington, May 31.—While Mexican mediation at Niagara Falls awaited word from the Washington and Huerta governments as to proposed terms of settlement of international differences and composition of the internal Mexican situation, prominent agents of the constitutionalist movement in Mexico conferred here today, with Luis Cabrera as the center of interest.

Washington officials, though in communication during the day with American representatives at the peace conference, declined to discuss their attitude as to the reception of Carranza representatives into the mediation negotiations, but it was again declared

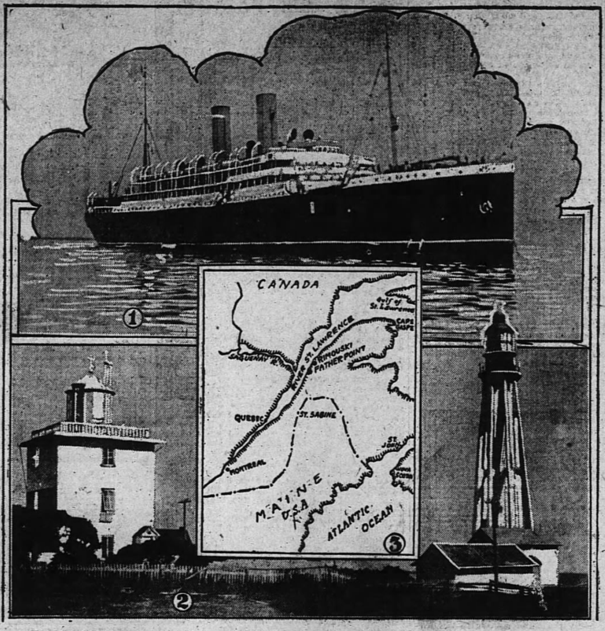
Where Empress of Ireland Met Her Doom



1. EMPRESS OF IRELAND. 2. FATHER POINT LIGHTHOUSE. 3. MAP SHOWING WHERE TRAGEDY OCCURRED.

The sinking of the Empress of Ireland, the Canadian Pacific railway steamer, in the St. Lawrence river, was one of the worst disasters since the sinking of the Titanic. The Empress of Ireland was a twin screw passenger steamer of 8,028 tons burden, was 548 feet long and of modern equipment, carrying not only wireless, but submarine signaling apparatus. She was built in 1906, and was, therefore, three years old when she made her record run from Quebec to Liverpool. She had been plying in the service of her owners, the Canadian Pacific Railway company, between St. John's and Quebec and Liverpool, and, especially during the summer months, carried large numbers of passengers. Her speed and furnishings made her one of the most popular of the transatlantic liners sailing from Canadian ports. When the ship sent out "S. O. S." signals after the crash with the collier Storstad her appeals were caught by the wireless operator at Father Point. The passengers saved were landed at Rimouski and others at Father Point. The steamer went down about 30 miles from Father Point. Father Point, sometimes called Farther Point, is a post village of Rimouski county, Quebec, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, near the mouth of the Rimouski river. A lighthouse marks the dangerous rock in the channel there.

SMITH DECLARES HE WAS DECEIVED

Former Manager Discusses Statement That "Little Joe" Will Not Run for the Short Term Senatorship.

Sunday morning The Constitution published an interview with "Little Joe" Brown, secured by the Atlanta correspondent of The Macon Telegraph, in which it was asserted positively that Governor Brown would not run for the short term senatorship against Governor Slaton.

Yesterday The Constitution received the following communication from J. R. Smith, former campaign manager for "Little Joe," in which Mr. Smith asserts that he has been deceived by Governor Brown, and gives to the public his side of the conference held some time ago in Marietta.

J. R. Smith's Card.

Mr. Smith's card follows:

Editor Constitution: Kindly permit me to reply through your columns to Governor Brown's statement which you carried very prominently on yesterday and which referrred directly to me:

I was shocked when I read Governor Brown's statement—shocked because I had been deceived by a friend in whom I had implicit confidence, and astonished at Governor Brown's attempt to shift the controversy between Colonel Paxon and myself from a statement of fact to a matter of speculation as to what Governor Brown would do.

I say that I was deceived by Governor Brown, and I feel that I am justifiable in giving to the public the facts as to how I have been deceived. After Senator Bacon's death, I strongly urged the appointment of Governor Joseph M. Brown as his successor. I felt that he was the logical man for the appointment. Twice he had been honored by the people of Georgia as their chief executive. The man who, under the law, had the appointing power, had received the support of Governor Brown and Governor Brown's friends, among whom I have been one. Yes, for many years I have stood loyally by him in the heat of battle. On the street corners and through the press, I have defended him against those who have bitterly attacked him. I stood by him for the principles of government which were embodied in his candidacy. I stood by him personally. I contributed much in time, money and energy, and had thrown in what little ability I may possess; and my faith in him led me to believe that the state and nation would be honored should he receive this appointment at the hands of his friend. I was not alone in this request. Scores of others, to my certain knowledge, had joined me. Our request had been turned down, cold. Our friend, selfish, to the manor born, stored away this position for himself. To accomplish this, he will have to stultify himself by eating his own words of condemnation. The atmosphere has been filled with public resentment from that day to this.

Discussed Senate Race.

At the time this happened, Governor Brown was on his farm in Cherokee county. Upon his return to Marietta I made an engagement and called upon him to discuss the question of his entering the race for the United States senate to succeed Senator Bacon. At

Strenuous Wooing Of a Pretty Girl Halted By Police

Robt. Carwell, Armed With a Dagger, Is Charged With Chasing Intended's Whole Family Out of House.

In the wee small hours of Sunday morning, after declaring his intention to marry pretty Miss Norah Harding, of 93 McPherson avenue, whether she would or not, Robert Carwell, a roomer in the Harding home, armed with a Mexican dagger, chased from the house the entire family, scantily clad, according to the police.

Miss Harding, alarmed at the manner in which her professed wooer sought her hand, fled from her home, and ran half a block up the street to the home of Police Officer Bishop, at 134 McPherson avenue, who was at home off duty.

Officer Bishop returned with her to the house in which Carwell had made himself master of ceremonies, and settled the affair by placing Carwell under arrest.

Carwell was sent to police headquarters, where he was detained until Sunday morning, when released upon a copy of charges.

The case will be tried before Judge Nash Broyles this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

THREE BOYS GIVE LIVES FOR THEIR COMPANIONS

One of Victims Was Drowned With His Sweetheart Looking On.

Philadelphia, May 31.—Sacrificing their lives that the lives of four companions, two of them girls, might be saved, three young men, none of whom could swim, leaped into the Delaware river from a sinking rowboat late yesterday and were drowned. The story of their heroism was told today by the survivors. The dead are John Mouchech, Raymond Tinney and John Murphy. The saved are George German, Sarah German, Mary German and John Nevill.

Tinney and Sarah German were engaged to be married. Accompanied by the other members of the party, they visited the New Jersey side of the river yesterday in a large rowboat. They were more than 100 yards from shore when it was noticed that the craft was filling. Despite efforts of the seven occupants to bail the boat with their caps, it soon became evident that unless the load was lightened the boat would sink before shore could be reached.

None of the party could swim, but all of the men volunteered to jump out. Sarah German begged the Tinney boy not to risk it, but he was the first to spring over the boat's side, followed by Mouchech and Murphy. In spite of the sacrifice the boat capsized shortly after the three men had disappeared in the water and the four other occupants were thrown into the river. Nevill and German clung to the overturned craft and, grasping the girls, held them until the party was rescued by a motorboat.

WITH 188 BODIES FUNERAL VESSEL REACHES QUEBEC

Historic Heights Overlooking the St. Lawrence Black With Spectators as the Lady Grey Was Moored.

Quebec, May 31.—The Canadian government steamer Lady Grey brought from Rimouski today 188 bodies recovered from the wreck of the Empress of Ireland.

The historic heights overlooking the St. Lawrence were black with spectators as the funeral ship was moored. The coffins were carried ashore and work of identification begun without delay.

The Lady Grey was escorted by his majesty's shif Essex, and fifty sailors from the warship carried the coffins down the gangplank and laid them in rows under the freight shed on the pier. The building was draped with black. A crowd that included many of the survivors and relatives and friends of the dead grouped at the doors and waited for permission to enter.

Mothers and Babes Locked.

Three tables, each 100 feet long, held coffins of every description. Assembled on one were twenty-five small white caskets that held the bodies of children. Although the Lady Grey had taken to Rimouski all available coffins they were not enough. Besides the children's caskets there were eighty-eight containing the bodies of adults. Other victims were brought in rough pine boxes.

There was no sadder sight in the building than the table where rested these improvised coffins; for many held the bodies of mothers and children locked in the last embrace just as they had gone to their death off Father Point Friday.

Amid pathetic scenes, many victims were recognized and claimed by relatives. It may be days before others are identified.

Besides the 188 bodies which the Lady Grey had on board as, escorted by H. M. S. Essex, she steamed into port today, eighteen have been identified and taken in charge at Rimouski by relatives.

Bodies in Hull of Steamer.

Search of the waters near Father Point, where the Empress of Ireland sank early Friday, has revealed few more of the victims, and it seems probable that the bodies of hundreds of the more than 900 who perished lie imprisoned within the shattered hull of the big steamer.

Investigation into the responsibility for the disaster, begun yesterday before a coroner's jury at Rimouski, was adjourned for a week after Captain Henry G. Kendall and the chief engineer of the Empress of Ireland had given testimony placing the blame for the collision on the collier Storstad and declaring that the sinking of the

SOCIETY JOY-RIDING AND TANGOING WAY TO HELL, HE SAYS

Girls Object to Virginia Reel Because Partners Don't Hug Them Tight Enough, Asserts Dr. McConnell.

GASOLINE, NOT BRAINS, NEEDED FOR JOY-RIDER

Good Women Who Dance Tango Imitating Abandoned Woman of Dissolute Character, He States.

Dr. Lincoln McConnell, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, in his sermon at the Tabernacle last night, made a stinging attack up modern society and upon the joy-riding habit.

He declared that the tendency of modern dancing is advancing more and more toward the barbaric state of abandonment, and that only abandoned women perform the up-to-date dances. He shouted that the new steps came from Barbary Coast, where they were invented by disrespectable women who had lost all semblance of virtue, and that if a good woman tried to tango she was merely seeking to imitate the abandoned woman of dessolute habits.

Don't Hug Tight Enough.

"In the old, respectable days," he stated, "the women frowned upon such a thing as waltzing. In present circumstances, though, if you ask a bunny-hugging, tangoing girl or woman to do the sedate old Virginia reel, she'll say that she doesn't know it. Either that, or 'I don't like it. You don't hug tight enough.'"

Another thing that he had to say in regard to the new dances was this:

"The youth of today is dancing and bunny-hugging into hell just as fast as the orchestra can play appropriate rag-time."

The subject of his sermon was "Sowing the Wind and Reaping the Whirlwind." He made a general attack upon automobiles and the inclination of the present generation to joy-ride itself into purgatory.

"The morals of the automobile! Have you ever stopped to consider them," he said. "The automobile, more effectively than anything else, represents the restlessness of our time and the hysteria. It is significant of the breaking away from the old and decent regime. It is the most emblematic thing of the American spirit of today.

Fool Gone to Seed on Wheels.

"The typical joy-rider is a fool gone to seed on wheels. All that is required of a joy-rider is sufficient gasoline, no brains and just enough clothes to make a presentable appearance. The spirit of joy-riding is the spirit of recklessness. It means an indifference to all bonds and laws, a kind of 'Let 'er go Gallagher' sentiment.

"It is ruinous. The joy-rider is a type of non-thinking, non-caring man. He is not only a menace to himself, but to everybody along his route. And, furthermore, a man doesn't have to possess $10,000 a year to be a joy-rider. There are more $10 a week joy-riders in Atlanta than you'd ever dare believe.

"The entire world has become addicted to a hysteria of swift living. It has affected every phase of life. Nothing has been left immune. Home life has been injured by it. Why, when I was married there was only one divorce to every thirty-four marriages. Now, there is a divorce—and a scandalous one at that—to every nine marriages.

"The trouble is the average married man seeks to live a life on the automobile plan with only a wheelbarrow income.

"Did you know that a surprising number of young girls solicit joy-rides through the agencies of taxicab drivers and chauffeurs of private cars? No? Well, they do. The jolly sports, well-dressed and moneyed, come along and ask the driver where they can pick up some nice and pretty young girls.

Willing to Take Chance.

"The chauffeur has a list that he can depend upon. He drives around and picks up the specified number of girls. They are willing and ready to run the perils that are natural to such escapades merely for the sake of getting a joy-ride and an afternoon's outing in such circumstances.

"I have seen it all around me. It is amazing to note the thousands of youths and girls who are wrecking their lives in this joy-riding manner. They are going to end in a disaster, for all folks who continue joy-riding are inevitably bound to end in a wreck!"

NO TRACE DISCOVERED OF MISSING STEAMER

Norfolk, Va., May 31.—No signs of the missing steamer F. J. Luckenbach and its crew of twenty-nine men were seen by the torpedo boat destroyers Beale and Fanning, which arrived here today from Tampico, Mexico. The destroyers steamed over practically the same course that the mission ship is supposed to have followed when it left Tampa, Fla., on May 15 for Baltimore.

Wireless orders were received by the cruisers Dixie and Birmingham, while they were conveying eight torpedo boats northward from Tampico to Hampton Roads, to search for the Luckenbach. The two cruisers and the remainder of the destroyers are expected to arrive here tomorrow or Tuesday. No information has been received from them regarding the missing vessel.

GLASS CURED OF CANCER BY THE USE OF RADIUM

Baltimore, May 31.—It was announced tonight that radium had effected a complete cure of cancer of the throat for which A. L. Glass, a prominent railroad official of Gainesville, Fla., came here for treatment two months ago.

Mr. Glass' case was pronounced incurable. Radium was applied late in March and last night Mr. Glass was told he might return to his home secure in the belief that he was cured.

Aged Man Meets Death And Three Are Injured In Two Auto Accidents

JEALOUSY CAUSES YOUNG GIRL TO TRY TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Miss Ethel Vincent Is Now in Critical Condition at Grady Despite Efforts of Doctors.

DESPONDENT ALL DAY, TAKES CARBOLIC ACID

D. N. Gill, of Chester, S. C., Attempts to End His Life by Taking Bichloride of Mercury.

Miss Ethel Vincent, of 13 Fitzgerald street, 16 years old, despondent because her lover showered too much of his attention upon other girls, it is said, swallowed the contents of a two-ounce vial of carbolic acid Sunday morning about 12 o'clock at her home.

The Grady hospital ambulance made a record run to the girl's home, and back to the hospital, where the stomach pump was applied in time, it is believed, to save her life, though she was unconscious for many hours afterwards.

One of the women living at the girl's home stated that Miss Vincent was blue all day Saturday, and that before going to bed Saturday night, the young girl told her that she hoped she would die if her sweetheart did not change his actions.

Saturday afternoon the girl met her lover talking to several young ladies at a street corner near her home, and, according to the friend, made him leave his company and come home with her.

So despondent and blue was the young girl over her sweetheart's treatment, that she declared many times Saturday and Sunday morning, that she wanted to die.

She did not get up Sunday morning, and the friend stated that Miss Vincent secured the bottle of carbolic acid Saturday afternoon and had planned to kill herself.

CHAUFFEUR TRIES SUICIDE.

D. N. Gill, of Chester, S. C., 28 years old, a chauffeur, attempted suicide at No. 12 Houston street, an auto accessory supply house, Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He had carefully planned to die, according to the statement he made to one of his friends. He took fifteen grains of bichloride of mercury in two tablets. About 4 o'clock he took a tablet, about 4:30 o'clock he took another, and about 5 o'clock he told his friend that he was going to die.

The friend called the Grady hospital ambulance, and Gill was rushed there, where all the poison was pumped out. He told the hospital physicians that they got him sooner than he had planned. Gill would give no reason why he wanted to kill himself. His condition is reported as not serious.

WORKERS FOR TECH MEET AT LUNCHEON

Greater Institution Will Be Urged and Plan of Campaign Made at Meeting at 12:45 O'Clock Today.

Every man who has promised to help actively in the big campaign to raise $500,000 for a Greater Georgia Tech is urged to attend a luncheon meeting at 12:45 o'clock today in the main dining room at the Piedmont hotel, where J. R. A. Hobson will act as temporary chairman, and active working committees will be formed.

Mr. Hobson and Phineas V. Stephens, of New York, who is going to manage the campaign, promise that the meeting will begin promptly at that hour, and will adjourn on the dot at 2 o'clock. It is very essential, they say, for everybody who is going to take part in the active campaign to be there, as the definite working plans will be formulated.

The leaders of the movement, who number 100 or more of the most commanding figures in the manufacturing and industrial world of Georgia, have promised Dr. K. G. Matheson their cordial and active support and full confidence is expressed in the success of the movement.

It is explained at the outset that this is to be no popular appeal for small sums. There will be no appeal at all to the general public as a whole. The appeal will go direct to the heads of the mercantile, industrial and manufacturing interests which will be directly benefited by the movement.

ABSCONDING CASHIER IS PLACED IN PRISON

Ackerman, Miss., May 31.—C. M. Dunn, recently arrested at Seattle, Wash., arrived here today in custody of an officer and was placed in jail. As former cashier of the Bank of Weir, he is under indictment here on the charge of receiving deposits while the bank was in a failing condition.

David Liebermuth Is Run Over and Killed by Car Driven by Mrs. A. M. Baldwin—Wife Makes Vain Effort to Save Husband.

YOUNG MEN NEAR DEATH WHEN CAR TURNS OVER NOT FAR FROM SMYRNA

Lex Clay, of Marietta, and Junius Haile and Wallace Draper, of Atlanta, Are Painfully Injured Late Sunday Afternoon.

One man was killed and three others were badly injured in two auto accidents, which occurred on Sunday, one in Atlanta and the other about three miles from Smyrna, Ga.

In the accident in the city, which occurred shortly after noon, David Liebermuth, well known in Atlanta, was run over and died shortly afterwards at his home, where he was removed, refusing to go to the Grady hospital.

In the mishap near Smyrna, Lex Clay, of Marietta, the son of the late Senator Clay, and Junius Haile and Wallace Draper, both of Atlanta, were bruised and shaken up. Clay was sent to his home in Marietta, and Draper and Haile to the Davis-Fischer sanitarium, in Atlanta, for treatment.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

David Liebermuth, 55 years old, of 497 Washington street, was run over by an automobile on Georgia avenue, near the corner of South Pryor street, Sunday afternoon about 13:30 o'clock, dying shortly afterwards at his home, where he had been taken by the Grady hospital ambulance.

His wife was crossing the street with him, and made frantic efforts to save her husband by pulling his coat sleeve. She uttered a scream of horror when her husband was crushed underneath the car wheels.

The car was No. 3880, Georgia 1914, and was driven by Mrs. A. M. Baldwin, of 82 Garden street, wife of the jeweler.

Mrs. Baldwin Arrested.

City Detectives Tuggle and Baker, hearing of the death of Mr. Liebermuth, secured the number of the car, and took Mrs. Baldwin into custody, carrying her down to police station from her home. Several eye witnesses stated that the killing was accidental, and the woman was released under bond of $500. The accident will be investigated by Recorder Nash Broyles Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Baldwin, although very nervous, and showing signs of much weeping, gave the following detailed account of the accident to The Constitution reporter:

Tells Story of Accident.

"I had been to the services at the First Christian church and was returning home out South Pryor street, with my little boy, Carl, and Frederick Stegall, one of his friends, in the car with us.

"At the corner of South Pryor and Georgia avenue the street car which I had been following stopped to let off a passenger. I noticed another street car coming into town on South Pryor street. I stopped my car. The Georgia avenue car moved around the curve and stopped again in front of Cronheim's drug store, on the other corner, after it had made the turn, to let off a passenger who evidently wished to transfer to the incoming car. After the transfer, both cars moved on. In the meantime I had slowly advanced my car, in order to make the turn, but was blocked by the incoming car and forced to run too far across the street before I could turn. I stopped my car, seeing that I would be forced to reverse it in order to make the turn.

"My engine choked and a young man stepped from the sidewalk and cranked the engine. I started the car again and made the turn into Georgia avenue.

"There is a small rise at this point of Georgia avenue, and I did not see any one crossing the street. As my car rose over the hill I saw a man and woman crossing the street.

Grabs His Coat Sleeve.

"The woman grabbed his coat sleeve, and tried to pull him back, but he dashed across the street in front of my car, and was struck by the right fender. Some one told me later that the rear wheel of my car had passed over his body.

"I am an inexperienced driver, having learned to drive a short time ago, and whenever I go down hill I always place the gears in neutral and tighten my brakes. I skidded several feet, but could not miss the man. He zigzagged twice in front of my car, and I could not tell whether he was going back or not.

"Someone rushed out of Cronheim's drug store and carried the man into the drug store. I rushed back and tried to get into the drug store, and the men would not allow me to come into the store. They must have thought that I was hysterical because I was weeping. I gave my car number and name and went home, being told that the man was not hurt dangerously.

"I did not know he had died until the city detectives notified me later in the afternoon. I would not have had the accident to occur for anything in the world."

Wanted to Go Home.

The Grady hospital doctors stated that they wanted to bring Mr. Liebermuth to the hospital for treatment, but that he insisted that he be carried to his home.

Mr. Liebermuth was an old citizen of Atlanta, having been engaged here in the clothing business for a number of years. He was in the employ of the Stocks Coal company.

Mr. Liebermuth is survived by his widow, three daughters, Misses Rosa, Florence and Tillie; one brother, of Richmond, Va., and three sisters, of New York and California.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

THREE YOUNG MEN HURT.

Three young men narrowly escaped death when an automobile, speeding thirty-five miles an hour, striking a rut in the road, turned turtle and plunged into a deep ditch late Sunday afternoon on the Marietta highway, a quarter of a mile below Smyrna, Ga.

Junius Haile, of 506 Courtland street, Atlanta, lost control of the high speeding car when it struck the rut, and was pinned underneath the exhaust, receiving several severe burns about his body and a deep laceration on his forehead. He was unconscious for several minutes.

Wallace Draper, of 351 West Peachtree street, and Lex Clay, son of the late Senator Clay, of Marietta, Ga., were thrown out of the car headlong, and landed in the ditch about fifteen feet away. Clay's arm was broken, his nose cut, and Draper's right leg was torn below the knee.

Negroes Come to Aid.

A score of negroes, who happened to be near the scene of the accident, rushed to the aid of Draper and Clay, and raised the heavy car so that Haile could be removed from underneath.

Dr. J. T. Page, of Smyrna, was summoned, and he secured automobiles to rush the injured parties to Atlanta for medical attention. Clay was sent to his home in Marietta; Draper and Haile to the Davis-Fischer sanitarium.

Dr. Leroy Childs attended the young Atlanta men, and announced their condition at a late hour last night as not being serious, although both are badly bruised and shaken up from the experience.

Wild rumors spread over the city that the young men had been pinned underneath the car and all killed, and many of their friends were frantic for news of their condition.

AGAINST WAGE INCREASE ON GEORGIA AND FLORIDA

Augusta, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—When the board of arbitrators filed their opinion in the case of the differences between the Georgia and Florida railroad and its engineers and firemen, A. W. Anderson, while signing the findings of the board, did so with the reservation that he did not approve of the increase in wages recommended by the majority, Judge Stanton J. Peele and L. S. Davis.

Mr. Anderson has just filed his dissenting opinion, a lengthy document, in which he explains his position in the matter. He criticises the position of the majority in not considering the ability or inability of the road to pay increased wages; asserts that wages had already been increased several times, and says that the passenger engineers had been receiving about $150 a month, and the freight engineers about $130 a month, not counting overtime. He attacks the proposition that the railroad should pay uniform wages with those of other roads in the locality, and declares that the road is not paying its expenses.

His conclusion is that if the decision of the arbitration stands, "such decision can only mean that if the increase in pay is made a reduction in pay of other classes of employees must necessarily result, or it will mean the disintegration of the property, and an ultimate reduction in the pay of the engineers now working for the Georgia and Florida railroad; or, what is still a more serious result, the abandonment of the property and consequent destruction of the public utilities, vital to the interests of a large section of undeveloped country, rich in resources and needing only time and some patience on the part of the employees of the Georgia and Florida railroadl."

Important Notice to All Entrants in the Free Gift Campaign of Constitution

Do you want an automobile? If you do, do you know of any better opportunity to obtain one than is today offered you by The Atlanta Constitution? There are thirteen automobiles to be given away in this offer, and thirteen people are going to get an automobile, and there is no reason why you should not be one of this number.

If you are under the impression that the contest has been running for some time and that it is now too late to become an active candidate, you are mistaken; with two or three exceptions, there has nothing been done in this entire contest that you cannot overcome in one day's time by putting forth a special effort on your part.

Just think of thirteen automobiles to be given away, ranging in value from $2,525 to $1,150. Also nine, $750 Ludden & Bates self-player pianos. Just stop a moment and think of the value of one of these automobiles.

It is now less than thirty days to the closing of this contest. If you wish one of these automobiles you would have to pay just exactly the prices quoted. Do you know of any way by which you could spend your spare time to any greater profit for the next thirty days than in trying to win one of these automobiles? Which means from $1,150 to $2,525 for one months' work, should you be fortunate enough to secure one of these machines. If, however, you should fail to win one of the listed awards and send in $100 or more of new business, you will be given a cash award of $10 for each $100 worth of new business turned in by you. Everything is in your favor, you cannot fail to win something, and the chances of your winning an automobile depend entirely upon your own efforts.

Do not allow any of your friends to persuade you against entering the contest if you are inclined to do so. Make up your mind to enter and assure your friends that you intend to go in to win an automobile. They will admire you for your stand and you can enlist them to help you secure one of these valuable prizes.

Special.

For each club of $30 worth of new subscriptions turned in or mailed to this office between May 30 and midnight June 6, a certificate for two hundred thousand additional votes will be issued. These clubs may be composed of new subscriptions for three and six months, as well as yearly subscriptions, and are in addition to votes issued on subscription payments as per schedule.

Now is the time for you to begin active work in this contest if you have already been nominated. If you have not been nominated, send in your name today and begin active work at once. Some of our most promising contestants have entered the last few days. It seems to be a weakness of human nature to put off everything until the last. Many hundred nominees of good intentions have been waiting and are just now beginning to show some evidence of activity.

Second Largest Offer.

This bonus vote is the second largest bonus vote offer and none larger hereafter will be offered in this contest. Keep this one thing before you: there are thirteen high-grade automobiles to be given away. Thirteen contestants are going to receive these automobiles. Do you want to be one of the lucky winners in the motor car contest? If you do, and will put forth the proper effort, at the same time enlisting the efforts of your friends, there is no reason why you should not win. It will at least cost you nothing to investigate the proposition.

This contest is conducted by The Atlanta Constitution, and the reputation of The Constitution is behind it. This assurance ought to be all the evidence any contestant may desire to insure her that her success depends upon her own efforts.

This is your opportunity to enter the contest and win an automobile. Will you take advantage of it now, or will you pass it by and after it is too late always regret it? The twenty-two valuable prizes must be given away and you can be one of the winners if you will only enter this contest with a determination to make a success.

ATLANTA COOLED BY SHORT DRIZZLE

East Lake Swept by Rainstorm, and Precipitation Is Reported From Several Nearby Cities.

The Hon. J. Pluvius at last seems to have waked from his continued slumber and answered the call of the suffering thousands who have been praying for rain during these arid twenty-two days for, yesterday, Atlanta felt a few refreshing drops of rain that spattered upon the pavement and quenched the long-felt parch.

Furthermore, the prospects are that the drouth is gradually breaking. There was a drizzle Sunday afternoon as near the center of the city as Sixth and Seventh streets. In East Lake there was 'a literal downpour. Golfers hied to shelter with avidity, and those who didn't got drenched.

There was but little rain, however, in the downtown district. Along about 4 o'clock a few drops sprinkled from the clouds. Dazzling stabs of lightning ripped through the skies intermittently, and pedestrians, for a time, feared a big rainstorm.

Big and foreboding clouds hindered the sun all during the day, and everybody prophesied rain. The weather man assures the city that the big drouth is rapidly breaking, and that there will soon be rain in plenty.

Rain was reported late Saturday in Rome and near Marietta.

WITH 188 CORPSES FUNERAL SHIP ARRIVES

liner was hastened by the seemingly deliberate withdrawal of the collier's prow from the hole it had made in the Empress' side.

CAPTAIN OF STORSTAD DEFENDS HIS ACTION.

Montreal, May 31.—With her bows crumpled in and twisted around at an acute angle to port, and a gap showing on the port side only a foot or so above the water line, in mute evidence of the tragedy in which she figured, the collier Storstad, limped into the harbor here today. A few minutes later a warrant of arrest taken out by the Canadian Pacific railway was nailed to her mainmast by order of W. Simpson Walker, K. C., registrar of the Quebec admiralty.

"By what authority to you come on board my vessel and place it under arrest?' asked Captain Anderson, commander of the collier.

"By authority of the British empire," curtly replied the deputy sheriff commissioned to execute the warrant.

Captain Anderson immediately had the collier docked, conferred with Captain Ove Lange, American chief of the Maritime Steamship company, of Norway, and John J. Griffin, attorney for the company, both of whom came from New York to look into the situation.

Captain Anderson at first declined to discuss the disaster, declaring he would make a statement later in the evening. Subsequently a statement based on Captain Anderson's report, as well as the reports of other officers to Messrs. Lange and Griffin, was given out.

Tried to Keep Bow in Hole.

According to the captain and officers the Storstad did not back away after the collision. On the contrary, she steamed ahead in an effort to keep her bow in the hole she had dug into the side of the Empress.

The Empress, however, according to the Storstad's officers, headed away and bent the Storstad's bow over at an acute angle to port. After that the Empress was hidden from the view of the Storstad, and, despite the fact that the Storstad kept her whistle blowing, she could not locate the Empress until the cries of some of the victims in the water were heard.

Captain Anderson denied he moved a mile or so away from the Empress after his vessel struck the liner. The Storstad had not moved. It was the Empress which had changed position, he declared.

According to the report made by Captain Anderson to the owners, immediately the collision occurred, he heard Captain Kendall shout calling on him not to pull away.

"I won't," shouted the Storstad's captain, as loud as he could. After that the Empress disappeared from the Storstad's view.

Statement of Storstad's Officers.

The statement reads:

"The fact that the Storstad has only today reached port has made it impossible heretofore to give an authentic statement on her behalf. All connected with the Storstad deplore most deeply the terrible accident which has resulted in the loss of so many valuable lives. It is not with any desire to condemn others, but simply because it is felt that the public is entitled to know the facts that the following statement is put forward:

"The vessels sighted each other when far apart. The Empress of Ireland was seen off the port bow of the Storstad. The Empress of Ireland's green, or starboard, light, was visible to those on the Storstad. Under these circumstances the rules of navigation gave the Storstad the right of way.

"The heading of the Empress then was changed in such a manner as to put the vessels in a position to pass safely. Shortly after a fog enveloped first the Empress and then the Storstad.

"Fog signals were exchanged, the Storstad's engines were at once slowed and then stopped. Her heading remained unaltered. Whistles from the Empress were heard on the Storstad's port bow and were answered. The Empress of Ireland was then seen through the fog, close at hand, on the port bow of the Storstad. She was showing her green light and was making considerable headway.

"The engines of the Storstad were at once reversed at full speed and her headway was nearly checked when the vessels came together.

Didn't Back Out of Hole.

"It has been said that the Storstad should not have backed out of the hole made by the collision. She did not do so. As the vessels came together the Storstad's engines were ordered ahead to hold her bow against the side of the Empress and thus prevent the entrance of water into the vessel.

"The headway of the Empress, however, swung the Storstad around in such a way as to twist the Storstad's bow out of the hole.

"The Empress at once disappeared in the fog. The Storstad sounded her whistle repeatedly in an effort to locate the Empress, but could obtain no indication of her whereabouts until cries were heard. The Storstad then was maneuvered as close to the Empress as was safe in view of the danger of injury to the persons who were in the water.

"The Storstad then lowered every one of her boats and sent them to save passengers and crew of the Empress, though she was herself in serious danger of sinking. When two boats from the Empress reached the Storstad, the Storstad's men also manned these boats and went in them to the rescue. Her own boats made several trips and in all about 350 persons were taken on board and everything that the ship's stores contained was used for their comfort.

Cruel Injustice Charged.

"The statements which have appeared in the press, indicating that there was the slightest delay on the part of the Storstad in rendering prompt and efficient aid, do a cruel injustice to the captain, who did not hesitate to send out every boat he had, in spite of the desperate condition of his own ship.

"The owners of the Storstad ask of the public that, in all fairness to both vessels and their commanders, judgment as to where the blame for the terrible disaster should rest, be suspended until an impartial tribunal has heard the evidence on both sides."

The seizure of the Storstad was at the instance of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, whose claim against the owners of the collier, the Maritime Steamship Company of Norway, is for $2,000,000 loss. There may be a further claim by the Canadian Pacific railway for loss of cargo. The owners of the Storstad, it is understood, will put up bonds tomorrow that the vessel may be released. No inconvenience will be caused by the arrest, as in the meantime the collier will be unloading her cargo of 11,500 tons of coal.

STRIKERS TELL OF GRIEVANCES

Open Air Mass Meeting Held at White City Sunday Afternoon Attracts Large Audience.

Fully 1,000 operatives of the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills, 435 of whom are out on a strike, and a number of prominent citizens, gathered Sunday afternoon at White City park and listened to three impressive speeches by labor leaders in regard to general conditions declared to be the cause of the strike.

The distinguished speakers were Charles A. Miles, of New York, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor; Mrs. E. B. Smith, of Atlanta, prominent labor leader and orator, and S. B. Marks, of Atlanta, president of the Georgia branch of the Federation of Labor.

These speakers declared that the largest churches in Atlanta had been tendered them for meetings; that 5,000 workingmen of Atlanta had agreed to share their salaries with the Fulton operatives during this strike; that 2,000,000 other workers in the country were back of the strike financially; that the National Textile Workers' association had camped in Atlanta and would be here, if necessary, until Gabriel blows his trumpet, if the Fulton oueratrs were that long in agreeing to right the prevailing industrial conditions.

Thunderstorm Threatens.

They said further the strike would affect every mill in Atlanta, the state and the southeast. Men, women and children crowded eagerly about the speakers on the grassy slope, while dark clouds moved overhead and occasionally lightning jagged the threatening sky as if in response to something similar in the pent-up natures of the crowd.

The speakers told of the high brick walls about the Fulton mills, with broken glass scattered along the top; of the written pass and excuse signed by headquarters necessary when an operative went out of the walls; of the docking system, the fees from which, one of the company's officials at one time is said to have declared, had built the mills from a small shop to one of the greatest of cotton mills.

Prepare for Strike.

The textile association has rented houses for the strikers, and also transfer wagons to carry their belongings this morning to the new residences. A commissary will be opened this morning and everything the strikers need will be given them free of charge. It is estimated by labor leaders that the number of strikers will grow to 1,000 today, and that by the end of the week the entire 1,800 textile workers will be out on the strike. The operatives declared that the recent charges of violence, made against the strikers, were false.

Another protest meeting will be held this morning at 10 o'colck in the building at the corner of Decatur and Moore streets.

The workers are on a strike on account of the action of the mills in firing eighty operatives who joined a union.

BIG BAPTIST REVIVAL CAME TO END SUNDAY

The Baptist evangelical campaign, which has been in session for two weeks in Atlanta, closed Sunday after two big mass meetings were held in the afternoon and services at the various churches at night.

The mass meeting for men was held at the Bijou theater, and Dr. Lincoln McConnell delivered his famous religious lecture, "Brains and Backbone."

The meeting for women took place at the First Baptist church, and was addressed by Mrs. J. H. Dew, wife of Evangelist Dew.

A grand rally in celebration of the campaign will be held at the Auditorium-Armory Sunday, June 7. All the Sunday schools and organizations of the Baptist church will take part.

CHANGE IS PROPOSED IN CENTRAL SCHEDULE

Carrollton, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—At a joint meeting of committees appointed by the Rome, Carrollton and Cedartown Chambers of Commerce and some of the officials of the Central railroad, who met here yesterday, changes in the present schedule of the Chattanooga division of the Central railway were considered.

Hon. Wright Willingham, of Rome, was elected chairman of the meeting.

The proposed changes were approved by the Rome and Carrollton committees and agreed to by the railroad officials present. Cedartown opposed the proposed changes, and will very likely fight them when submitted to the railroad commission for approval.

Cedartown Chautauqua.

Cedartown, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) The second annual Cedartown chautauqua opens Thursday, June 4. A very strong list of attractions have been secured for this year. They are furnished by the Alkahest lyceum system. The business section of the city will be decorated in true holiday style and many of the homes will be gay with flags and bunting. On the opening day an automobile parade will be held and the cars will be beautiful with their decorations and pretty girls.

TOT RUNS SCISSORS INTO THROAT WHILE MAKING PAPER DOLLS

Savannah, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—While cutting paper dolls Saturday morning, Mary Angela, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bruggemann, of 536 East Broughton street, stumbled down the stairs and ran the sharp blade of a pair of scissors into her throat. She died this morning, after long hours of suffering, and after every effort had been made to save her life.

The little girl pulled the scissors' blade from her throat and ran to her mother shouting, "Here it is, mother; I wasn't hurt much." A physician was called and his examination showed that an artery had been severed.

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Atlanta---New York---Paris Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

Today Is the Day

Let us tell you very easily and plainly and friendly about this White Sale. If we seem to exaggerate, remember that we only seem to; we do not in reality.

The best efforts of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. have gone into its preparation. This has brought about the best efforts of makers of underwear, dresses and skirts.

The results are happy through and through.

We have managed to get such values as we never got before.

WHITE SALE

Muslin Underwear, Dresses
Skirts, Hats, Cottons, Curtains

This, the News of It

Economy is the keynote of it all, but not all of the sale by any means. The sale's appeal is double-edged and keen. Prices will bring one up with a start, awakening the buying impulse of the thriftiest. Styles will kindle the desire of ownership in the heart of any woman.

Plainly, it is the most helpful, serviceable thing we have ever done along this line—these are general terms, but they are based on very particular and concrete facts.

$8,000 Worth of Snowy New Muslin Underwear for This Event

Get the Proper Perspective

Today's news concerns Muslin Underwear, White Dresses, White Skirts, Hats, Cottons and Curtains.

More news of other things is to come.

All of it could not be contained in one page of a newspaper. This is but the first gun, so to speak. We shall bombard you with different news of different values from day to day. You will be captivated by the economies the news will bring.

The advertising pen would rush to the telling of it all right now. It is the kind of news advertising pens rush to tell. It is held in check because it means better service to more people.

Today, then, for Muslin Underwear, White Dresses, White Skirts, Hats, Cottons and Curtains, and the White Sale is on!

And this does not take into account the stocks we had on hand.

We bought this large amount for this, our greatest sale—bought it for the same reason that will guide you. The values were compelling.

In our time we have invited you to many splendid sales of muslin underwear—but never to one such as this. Billowy masses of white spreading in a seemingly limitless variety; garments as dainty and as womanly as ever good taste and smartest makers have evolved. Look on this as more than a sale—it is an exposition of new styles, new ideas, withal the prices make it a great buying opportunity to supply one's self with muslin underwear for the whole long, hot summer.

See the things, will you? To serve in such a way as this is to make friends for a store!

Points Not to Be Missed

Gowns with dotted Swiss yokes.

Gowns of camisole lace yokes.

Dainty copies of French garments, exquisitely simple.

Cool linen petticoats and gowns.

Scores of crepe garments that need no ironing.

Machine embroidery that is strikingly like hand work.

Garments with the new Persian flowered embroidery.

Gowns for invalids; some that button on the shoulder, and some in dressing sacque style.

China silk garments that travelers will like.

Corset covers with peplums and drawstrings, fashioned for the new silhouette.

Net trimmings in abundance.

Drawers

19c Of muslin with flounces of lace or embroidery or hemstitched with cluster tucks. The kind you usually pay 25c for.

39c We have taken styles that were sold at 69c and 75c and selected those that are a bit mussed, and put them with this lot. Nainsook trimmed with Valenciennes and linen laces and embroideries and cluster tucks—knickerbocker, bloomers, semi-circular styles.

48c Fifteen different styles. Flat, semi-circular, the new Dorothy; sheer nainsooks and crepes. The trimmings are unusually fine.

69c and 75c, 98c, $1.25 to $2.25 Drawers of finer and finer nainsooks and more elaborate trimmings. Worthy of particular attention are the exceptionally beautiful laces and the hand machine embroidery on drawers at $1.25 and up.

Corset Covers

19c Even at this price they are fashioned with the new full fronts; light, firm domestic and crepe; trimmed with laces and embroideries. They are 25c values.

39c Of sheer, soft nainsook, embroidery medallions of German Valenciennes and linen laces. The 50c kinds.

Corset Covers

48c Exceptional values, even in this sale; nainsook with Valenciennes and linen laces and dainty convent scalloped edges, ribbon run. 15 styles.

Gowns

48c Of soft domestics and nainsooks and cambrics, showing hand machine embroidery and laces and sheer blind embroideries; low, round, V and high necks.

69c Splendid values here; nainsook, cambrics, crepes—these in white, pink and blue; linen laces, embroidery insertions and edges—some of these are much higher priced garments, now soiled somewhat.

89c 25 styles at this price, divided among kimono styles, Empire and bishop, long and short sleeves and all manner of attractively finished necks. The trimmings are beautiful.

98c 45 matchless $1.25 and $1.50 styles. Net trimmings reign, and more other points of novelty than we can tell. Simple French styles (flat fronts with no gathers), Empire styles; Swiss embroidery medallions in front and backs—every imaginable style of sleeve and neck. Note the quality of the nainsooks and crepes and cambrics.

Gowns

$1.19 15 styles; net yokes, Swiss yokes; gowns with allover embroidery yoke, with lace inserts down the front. The arrangement of medallions and tucks and laces is the most exquisite we have seen at a price near this.

$1.49 15 styles; some of the elements of their beauty are yokes of aero cloth, of sheer allover embroideries (back and front), German Val. laces of soft cream on snowy white nainsook and shadow laces and medallions artistically worked in.

$2.50 Front and back trimmings, camisole yokes, the Persian flowered embroideries. The exquisite workmanship that shows in the making, the fine, neat hand machine embroidery mark these as what they are—wonderful values.

Petticoats

79c Of sturdy domestic, with the double panel front and scalloped edge.

95c Of domestic, double panel front, fitted waist band, scalloped edge—such as are usually $1.25.

98c and $1.25, $1.50 and $5—Let the brides note these; shadow lace flounces, some with underflounces, embroidery trimmed and ribbon trimmed, fitted waist bands.

Princess Slips

98c and $1.25 to $5—The new front fastening styles with camisole tops, seamless backs, fitted skirts, often slit at the side. Very attractive are the pink tissue princess slips at $1.49. The new trousseau slips of accordion plaited chiffon in white and pink, $8.50 to $12.00.

49c A little lot of $1.25 and $1.50 princess slips that are a bit soiled; not all sizes.

Teddy Bears

98c to $2.50—New and exquisitely dainty in fabric and in lace and embroidery trimmings—camisole effects, worked out in shadow laces and sheer embroidery and then graced with the new Japanese embroidery.

Pajamas

$3.50 Were $5—Ideal for travelers; for those who sleep on porches. White, blue and lavender.

Out Sizes

The woman who requires out-size garments has been amply cared for! Gowns, drawers, petticoats—at many prices and in full sizes, as marked.

Curtains Drop One-Third of Their Prices

Some seventy-five or eighty pairs of curtains in lots of one, two, three to six pairs of a pattern, are reduced one-third for the White Sale.

They were $1.50 to $20.00. Now $1.00 to $13.33 a pair.

Choose from etamines, nets, voiles and marquisettes in white, ivory and Arabian.

Many most attractive patterns.

Smart White Hats

$5 to $10

The Millinery Section joins the White Sale with choice values.

With the co-operation of Estelle Mershon, 20 E. Forty-sixth street, New York, that sent us particularly interesting style letters in regard to what is what in the lately evolved white hats, our own workrooms have been able to turn out particularly fine white hats at $5.00 to $10.00.

These are more than $5.00 to $10.00 values in materials used—and as for the styles, the freshest and most charming of the moment.

Too many styles to particularize—but hats a woman will put on and wear with a great deal of satisfaction.

Airy, Dainty Summer Frocks

A Display That Brings Into Prominence the New Style Points and White Sale Prices

Did we ask you to this merely as a display of the new fashions it would be teeming with interest—coming right now on the threshold of the hot season.

But we have done more!

It is a display and a sale. Prices obtain that are dollars under real value. And the beauty of it all is that this is so evident to the woman who knows values.

A display of the new styles—

The New Batistes, the New Organdies, the New Voiles, the New Crepes

The new uses of nets, the lace-edged and ribbon inserted flounces, the attractive bodices.

Garden party dresses, afternoon dresses, dancing and evening dresses.

At $5.98, $7.50, $8.75 and $11.75

White China Silk Dresses. This cool and serviceable fabric made into the most attractive styles of the moment. Neat and simple are words that one thinks of when looking at them. Little vestees of chiffon; bows on sleeves, ruffled and tiered skirts and tunic skirts. It's to your advantage to compare them with what are usually priced as these are.

At $11.75 Dainty Voile Dresses

Immaculately white; a soft, misty substance of a fabric as light as a breeze. Several styles. The bodices are blousy, deep kimono sleeves; the skirt may be a mass of ruffles, or plain and overcast with three narrow ruffles at the hips; a girdle of moire. Dainty for the dance!

At $11.95, $15 and $18.75

A bewildering variety of lace and embroidery trimmed net dresses in which ribbons are used to striking advantage in the skirts—not the plain nets; but flaked and flecked and striped.

An Attractive Novelty at $15

White net; the skirt is in two deep, embroidered flounces with a double ruching of plain net at the bottom—decidedly Frenchy; a draped blouse with wide girdle of brocaded or moire silk.

Many Smart Dresses $16.95 to $25

Here's a model at $16.95—a combination of soft French voile and barred voile in a simple style—a long tunic of the plain voile over the barred material. At $20 a dress of voile with a tunic set to a yoke with a narrow lace band—lacy blouse, Roman striped girdle.

The White Skirts of This Moment's Fashion

Pique and Ratine Skirts $1.95

Wide welt pique and medium weight ratine, both sturdy fabrics that may be laundered at will—simple styles with rounded hip-length peplum.

Smart Styles at $2.45

Choose from many crepes, heavy cords, piques; long tunics, peplums overlapping at front; fastened with pearl buttons.

Plain tailored styles, too.

At $2.98, $3.45, $5 and $6.50

Piques, ratines, crepes; the crepes are plain and flecked and barred; many models with the loose, graceful long tunics; others showing the flare at the bottom of the skirt.

In gathering these dresses and skirts we have prepared splendidly for those who require large sizes and for those who require Misses' sizes

White Goods Caught in the White Sale

A BOTANICAL GARDEN.

A botanical garden that shall contain specimens of every plant, shrub and flower indigenous to Georgia is the proposal of Benjamin W. Hunt, former president of the Georgia State Bankers' association, advanced in a communication published today.

Mr. Hunt's suggestion is a reminder that many years ago Georgia maintained a splendid botanical garden at Athens, supported by the state and as a part of the university. Through parsimony and short-sight and the encouragement of the libellous delusion that still persists that Georgia is a "poor state," the garden was allowed to lapse into disuse and ultimate abandonment. Educational and eleemosynary institutions were clamoring for positive existence money. Under these conditions, produced by the state's wretched fiscal policy, the botanical garden was abandoned.

Mr. Hunt cites the arboretum maintained by Harvard university as an illustration of how other states and universities regard this subject, and as a sample of what Georgia could have done had the Athens botanical garden been kept alive.

It is not too late to remedy this neglect. The state college of agriculture is located at Athens, on a great campus of nearly 900 acres. At small cost there could be established and gradually developed there a botanical garden that would be worth much to the state, and at the same time become a valuable adjunct to the agricultural course.

A WARNING WORTH HEEDING.

J. T. Holleman, an Atlantan of southwide experience in the field of farm-loans, in a contribution today sounds a note of warning about Georgia's unpreparedness to benefit from rural credits under federal legislation.

Mr. Holleman says that our chaotic and unscientific system of land titles will militate decisively to reduce, if not wipe out the benefit of rural credits, since loans from this source will necessarily be based upon land and the rate of interest when land is the collateral is controlled by the validity of title.

Coming from a man of Mr. Holleman's conservatism and experience, the legislature at the coming session may well take cognizance of the condition he outlines.

WHAT NEGROES HAVE DONE.

At the recent commencement exercises of the Atlanta university, George L. Paine, of New York, delivered an analysis of negro progress that should go into every negro home in the south, and that should not escape the attention of the thoughtful white man. Here is the substance of his statements:

> Fifty years is not a long span of time measured by the history of the world, but all the more for that reason does the phenomenal success of the negro in the United States give us the right to form another, and this time a wholly favorable expectancy. Since the proclamation of emancipation, January 1, 1863, the negro has proved to the world what he can do by doing. Whereas 70 per cent of your race were illiterate, now 70 per cent are literate, far surpassing the countries of Russia, Portugal and southeastern Europe. You have accumulated property to the huge total of $700,000,000. $500,000,000 of it being in rural property. Nearly one-fourth of all the negro farmers in the south own their farms. During this last census period the percentage of farm ownership increased 17 per cent for the negroes, against 12 per cent for the whites.

Conceding these estimates as even approximately correct, and The Constitution, with due respect for their author, doubts their full authenticity, the net result is one that should inspire the negro and encourage the white man. Particularly is the showing noteworthy where it touches increasing farm ownership among negroes.

The negro has accomplished much, and much of his work has been steadily uphill. The larger part of his task is ahead of him. He must fit the bulk of his race for the pursuits, practical and possible, that lie about them. The negro is not now so fitted. He must educate his people into sanitary and hygienic and self-restrained living, that the diseases that are sapping racial strength and being transmitted to the white man may be checked. He must instill in his race respect for contractual obligation, now tragically lacking. He must persuade his people as to the value of humble beginnings, in which too many of them are now remiss. He must scourge vice and dissipation from among his ranks.

In these tasks the obligation of co-operation lies on the white man, especially the white churches. They do well to minister to the heathen abroad. Attention paid to the half-heathen that still abide in our midst is no less a duty.

THE PANAMA QUAKES.

The recent slight earthquake shock along the line of the Panama canal zone was, naturally, the signal for a revival of pessimism here and there regarding future menaces from this source.

Misgivings of this nature are unfounded. Competent engineers are agreed that the 'quakes and slides that thus far have necessitated changes and delays in construction, have now about reached their maximum power for harm. Nothing short of a cataclysm, against which no part of the earth is wholly safe, would undo the work done on the isthmus.

Before a single blue print for the canal was drawn, exhaustive research was made of the history of the strip, with specific reference to the question of earthquakes. It was ascertained that the oldest record did not contain proof of other than superficial shocks, proof being found in the fact that stone buildings, centuries old, still remain intact.

Experts also depend upon the well-nigh impregnable nature of the construction of locks and dams, to protect the waterway from disaster. Future shocks are to be expected, but they will not be of such violence as to threaten the stability of the enterprise or the vast volume of shipping that will use it.

These facts being of record, it is just as well that pessimism on this head be stilled and preparations proceed unruffled for the dedication and opening of the canal on schedule time.

THE COLONEL CLEARS DECKS.

If there is to be any amalgamation between the progressive bull moose and the G. O. P. elephant it will be the elephant that is amalgamated. Such is the substance of the decision Colonel Roosevelt has finally handed down, after conferences with personal followers from the states that are strategic, politically speaking.

The Colonel's ultimatum comes as no surprise. It chimes with his proverbial line of thought and with the pronunciamentos issued during the Colonel's absence by Gifford Pinchot and other authorized oracles of the gospel according to Roosevelt.

As a matter of common sense, it is difficult to see how the bull moose contingent could arrive at any other conclusion and make a consistent appeal for support. Much water has run under the bridge since the last presidential election, but not enough to change the essential incompatibility of the element headed by Roosevelt and the element headed by Gallinger, Root and Penrose. It is true that the republican national executive committee made a groping effort at reconciliation and reorganization, the chief basis of which was the "canning" of the black-and-tan southern contingent. But so fierce was opposition to the committee's program, and so little encouragement did it receive from the very men sought to be placated, that little has recently been heard of the effort.

The Colonel is on solid ground when he says that it is not an issue of party names, but of policies. The Constitution has long made that same contention, with reference to the general party line up, predicting that we could not long stave off the day when a political readjustment would do away with old party labels, substituting for them titles that meant conviction rather than tradition and expediency.

Our guess is that the Colonel will make a desperate effort to bring the two wings of his party together in time for the fall elections, and that enough of the old-line republicans will go over to the new line-up to make it formidable. There will be sulkers, of course, among the extreme reactionaries. But if the democratic party thinks it is going to escape this autumn without a stiff fight it reckons without the logic of the situation.

This is one of the considerations that has moved The Constitution to plead with democrats in congress to cease tampering with business, and go home. If the present condition holds until November Roosevelt can rally around him every element of disaffection in the country.

Should Secretary Bryan get that peace prize it will enable him to cancel a few chautauqua engagements and stay on the job.

The chautauqua season will develop more lecturers to the minute than there is money to the mile.

Anyway, Villa believes in the fitness of things. He shoots his prisoners "in the cemetery."

Any weather man will swear that Georgia is as dry as it was once voted by an historic legislature.

Pronouncing the names of those Mexican towns must be worse than taking them by force of arms.

The farmers of dry Georgia have been doing all the watchful waiting of late.

Best the Colonel could do was a river. He couldn't put a party on the map.

Why Men's League Urges Woman's Suffrage

Editor Constitution: "How National Woman Suffrage Would Enfranchise Negro Woman" is the headnote of a Macon editorial reprinted in The Constitution of May 27, and accredited to James Callaway in The Macon Telegraph.

When Hon. James Callaway, the arch enemy of woman suffrage, predicts dire calamities as a consequence of the national enfranchisement of women, he fights a sham battle, setting up a straw man and then knocking him down. This is not fair.

We urge woman suffrage because women are clearly entitled to be classed as people if this just government of ours is founded on the consent of the governed. Taxation without representation is as much a principle of democracy today as it was in 1776. But more important is this fact: Our ballot needs the women more than women need the ballot.

The campaign of the Georgia Men's league for woman suffrage is on. We are aiming to reach the voters of the state through the columns of a liberal and progressive press.

Chancellor Kirkland's Address

Editor Constitution: In your issue of May 27 I note an extract from a speech delivered in Atlanta by Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt, to the alumni of Vanderbilt university.

Chancellor Kirkland, in his "alumni" speech, takes care to defend himself against the cruel charge of being too "educational," and not sufficiently "ecclesiastical." Mr. Kirkland may be "educational," or he may be "ecclesiastical," or he may be very both, and at once, but when Mr. Kirkland goes to the low level of flinging mud on some of the truest men of the church and the nation, well, he goes a bit too far. His mud has a "come-back" about it. He smears himself. No man is more guilty of misstatements and absolute falsity than Chancellor Kirkland himself when he says that the bishops of the Southern Methodist church have been guilty of "misstatements—misrepresentation of facts," to quote his "alumni oration"—and statements "absolutely false."

The writer is just one of the more than 12,000 preachers of the Southern Methodist church. But it may interest the public to know that of this great number those who believe Chancellor Kirkland in the above statements might be counted on your fingers. Of the more than 2,000,000 members of this church Mr. Kirkland would have to search for a long time—outside of Nashville—to find a hundred who believe him. In fact, no one, who is familiar with the facts believes Chancellor Kirkland is telling the truth when he brings the charges above named against the bishops of the church. If Atlanta wants a great Methodist university founded in her shadows, she had better beware how she swallows anything prescribed by "Dr. Kirkland."

Rural Credits No Help Unless Georgia Reforms Her Farcical Title System

Editor Constitution: I am very glad to see that you make editorial mention of the matter of rural credit legislation now pending in congress, in your paper of this date. Congress will undoubtedly pass, at the next session, a law on the subject of land mortgage banks. Every newspaper in this state should begin the study of this subject and be prepared to put the state of Georgia in position to reap the full benefits that will accrue from this legislation.

It ought to be understood that congress proposes, under the pending bills, simply to authorize the organization or land mortgage banks under the supervision of the government, just as national banks are now organized and conducted. It is not proposed that the government shall lend money direct to the farmers. When these land mortgages banks are organized, the capital stock will be subscribed for, just as is now the case with national banks, but the land mortgage banks will be authorized to issue bonds to be sold in the open market for the purpose of raising money to lend to the farmers. The great question that will confront the state of Georgia will be, at what price these bonds can be sold in the open market. The mortgage banks will be prohibited from charging a farmer over 1 per cent per annum more than the banks have to pay on the bonds they issue. On account of the conditions I am describing in this letter, the margin of 1 per cent per annum will not be sufficient to enable the mortgage banks to prosper. The expense of conducting one of these banks in Georgia will be twice as great as the expense of conducting one of them in the middle western states, on account of these same title conditions. Right at this point will vanish the Georgia farmer's hope of getting cheaper money than he now enjoys. Furthermore, these conditions being well known everywhere, investors are almost certain to demand a higher rate of interest on the bonds of the southern farm mortgage banks than they will be satisfied to take on the bonds of the western farm mortgage banks.

Remedy Needed.

So it is of the most vital importance that conditions be remedied in Georgia at once by the legislature, so that when we get the new law authorizing the farm mortgage banks, our farmers will be assured of money at rates as reasonable as will be paid by farmers in other sections of the country. I, therefore, state it as my opinion, after having been engaged in the negotiation of farm loans in this state for thirty-five years, and as the opinion of other men in the business with whom I have talked, that these governmental farm mortgage banks in Georgia will be forced to charge farmers a higher rate of interest than will be paid elsewhere, for two reasons: First, because, on account of the conditions I have described, the expenses of conducting the bank will be greater than elsewhere, and second, because these conditions are already known to people everywhere who would be in the market for the bonds of the farm mortgage banks, and they would demand a higher rate of interest on these bonds than they would be willing to take in any other section of the country.

The Constitution and the other newspapers of the state should direct the attention of the legislature, at its next session, to this question. In many quarters the Torrens system of registering land titles has been advocated. Expert abstractors connected with me in business, who have had personal experience with the Torrens system in other states, pronounce it a failure. The best authorities on the subject do not advocate the Torrens system. The reforms must come through the legislature, in the shape of laws perfecting the present machinery relating to the matter of titles in this state. The record laws, the foreclosure laws and laws relating to the duties of county officials all must be strengthened and made definite. Secretary of State Hon. Philip Cook annually calls the attention of the legislature to the defective land surveys of the state. This should all be remedied.

All But Georgia.

It will doubtless surprise you to learn that in almost every state in the union, except Georgia, there is in practically every county a company engaged in the business of abstracting titles. With one or two exceptions, there is not a county in the state of Georgia where there is a title plant. I understand that there is some sort of a decision of the supreme court which renders it practically impossible to form a company for the purpose of making abstracts of title. This condition should be remedied.

If you feel inclined to open your columns to a discussion of this matter, I am satisfied that you will be astonished by the interest manifested throughout the state on the subject, and you will be able to put before your readers and before the members of the legislature information that will cause the legislature to take proper and vigorous action along this line. Land mortgage banks in Georgia, organized as outlined under the bills pending in congress, will be at a great disadvantage when they come to market their bonds, unless the questions discussed herein, and many other questions, are taken up and disposed of by the legislature.

The purpose of congress in establishing farm mortgage banks is not so much to give the farmers more money as to give them cheaper money. There is plenty of money now coming into the state of Georgia to be loaned on farm lands. A dozen or more life insurance companies are pouring money into the state at the rate of millions a year. But, right now, largely on account of the conditions I have described, Georgia farmers are paying higher rates for money than the western farmers pay.

Good, Anyhow.

And right now, even though we never get farm mortgage banks under an act of congress, the reforms I mention will cut the cost of money to the farmer 1 per cent per annum. The greatest expense incurred by me in conducting my business of negotiating farm loans is incurred in connection with the question of titles, not because titles are bad, for I think they are as good in Georgia as anywhere else, but because of the difficulty in ascertaining the real facts from the records, and because I am compelled, in every instance, to send out from my office in Atlanta high salaried men who are experts in matters of title, for the purpose of getting the truth. Farm mortgage banks under government supervision will not correct these difficulties; and the Goergia farmer will continue to pay more for money than is paid elsewhere, unless the legislature wakes up and enacts laws that will hold county officials strictly to the performance of duty, laws that will render more speedy foreclosure proceedings and laws that will make the examination of titles simple and definite, and finally make it possible for the organization in this state of companies established for the purpose of investigating records and furnishing abstracts of title.

Another Educational Institution

Editor Constitution: Atlanta is noted for getting what it goes after. At the recent session of the Southern Baptist convention, at Nashville, Tenn., the joint committees from the Southern Baptist convention (white), and National Baptist convention (colored) reported favorable to establishing a colored Baptist Theological Seminary at one of the following places: Memphis, Nashville, Louisville, Birmingham or Atlanta, agreeing that the Southern Baptist convention raise $50,000, provided the colored Baptists secure buildings and suitable grounds, and endowment.

This would mean an educational institution starting with at least $300,000, and with a promise of growing in the next decade or two into one of the great institutions of the south.

It is in the center of the colored Baptist territory. Three million people are members of this denomination. Their growth is steady. Such an institution would mean much to Georgia, and Atlanta in particular. Why not all Georgia unite with Atlanta and secure this seminary?

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

CANDIDATES GALORE WILL SPEAK AT FORT GAINES

Macon, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Supporters of Thomas S. Felder, candidate for the United States senate, are doing considerable blowing over the showing their candidate is making in Spalding county, of which Griffin is the county seat. This is the home county of Governor Slaton, and if the talk being put forth by the Felder people amounts to anything, Governor Slaton is in danger of losing the vote of that county.

"We have a Felder club in Spalding county with 250 voters already signed up and more getting in line every day," said Ed Jacobs, one of Felder's assistant campaign managers, today. "Spalding county is going for Felder and you can just put that in your pipe and smoke it. It would make Governor Slaton and his friends sick to look over the membership of that club, and that right there in his home county, too."

The people of Macon are rallying to the support of Judge Nat E. Harris, candidate for governor, and by next week his campaign will be in good working order. The Confederate veterans of Dooly county invited him to speak there on June 3, at their annual memorial exercises, but Judge Harris was compelled to decline because of a previous engagement, he having agreed to address the agricultural and industrial rally at Fort Gaines on that date.

The eyes of the state are centered on Fort Gaines and the indications are that the rally to be held there will be one of the biggest political gatherings the state has known recently and it is expected there will be plenty of fireworks. Among those who are going to speak are Judge Nat E. Harris, candidate for governor; Thomas S. Felder and John R. Cooper, candidates for the United States senate, and Thomas E. Watson, the gifted editor and politician.

The day following the rally Mr. Felder will speak at Americus, in Sumter county.

The fact that there are two candidates in the gubernatorial race named Harris, which is bound to result in confusion and may possibly cause some people to vote for the wrong man, has prompted the friends of the Macon candidate to adopt an official name for him. He has been referred to both as Judge N. E. Harris and Judge Nat E. Harris. The latter has been chosen as the one he will go by during the campaign, it being believed it will prevent much of the confusion.

COMMITTEE MEETING REVIVES TALK OF OPPOSITION TO PARK

Albany, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Since the recent meeting of the second district democratic executive committee in Albany, at which the congressional primary was ordered held in connection with the regular state primary on August 19, there has been a revival of the talk of opposition to Representative Frank Park, but no more than mere gossip has been heard. It is taken for granted that if Judge Park has opposition, his opponent will be Hon. Roscoe Luke, of Thomasville, who was defeated by Judge Park last fall, after an exciting contest.

While the friends of Mr. Luke are saying that he will run again, there has come no public expression from Mr. Luke. It is the belief in well-informed political circles that a considerable element of the voting strength of the district holds to the view that as Judge Park was elected for an unexpired term, which he is now serving, he is entitled to at least one full term, in order that the district may be able to judge intelligently of his worth as a public servant.

It is claimed that many political leaders in the district who supported one of Representative Park's two opponents last year will support the present congressman in the August primary, though there can, of course, be no lineup till it develops whether there is going to be a contest.

WORSHAM ANNOUNCES FOR GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Lyerly, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—T. J. Worsham, of Holland, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for representative in the general assembly from Chattooga county, subject to the primary of August 19. Mr. Worsham served the county in the capacity of sheriff for eight years and his services were highly commendable.

It is not known whether W. M. Ransom, at present representative from Chattooga, will again make the race. It was rumored some time ago that he would not again seek the office.

HART COUNTY POLITICS ARE LIVENING UP

Hartwell, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Hart county politics promise to liven up. Three candidates are in the field for representative. D. C. Alford, member of the city council and formerly county commissioner, has entered the race. John B. Morris, attorney, also makes his formal announcement this week. Luther M. Cunningham announced several weeks ago. It is said that several others will enter the race within the next few days. Robert L. Russell, a farmer, will also enter the race.

REMARKABLE MEETING IS HELD IN DUBLIN

Dublin, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Dublin politics have been called complicated, but at a meeting here last night the humorous side came out strong, resulting in one of the most unique meetings ever held in Dublin.

Rev. E. D. Childers, candidate for alderman from the city at large in the coming municipal primary, and well known character about town, a minister, horsetrader, real estate dealer, former garage owner, announced that he would speak at the courthouse Thursday night. During the day Thursday, four well-known citizens of the city arranged to introduce Mr. Childers, so that when the meeting was called to order there was a large crowd out to witness the fun, which was plentiful.

G. H. Williams, Esq., nominated J. W. Rowland, a well-known deputy sheriff, for chairman, in a witty speech that started the laugh which was kept going throughout the meeting. Mr. Rowland was made chairman and the first speaker, R. Earl Camp, spoke in favor of free lights, free water and the lending of the city's tax money to hard pressed citizens without interest. He closed by introducing James M. Finn, the most prominent banker in the county. Mr. Finn closed by introducing Judge K. J. Hawkins. Judge Hawkins added to the fun with a witty speech, finally closing by introducing G. H. Williams, who made the speech formally introducing Mr. Childers. Mr. Williams started the biggest laughs of the entire evening.

Mr. Childers followed Mr. Williams in a speech in favor of his candidacy, in which he gave his reasons for asking the suffrage of the citizens. His was the only serious speech of the entire bunch, but he was heard to the end.

It has been a long time since such a meeting was ever held in Dublin.

SOUTH GEORGIA QUIET POLITICALLY; GOVERNOR SLATON IS IN THE LEAD

Valdosta, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—In the language of the street, "nothing doing," comes very near expressing the political situation in Valdosta and this county. Considering the nearness of the state primary—a little more than two and a half months off—the attitude of the masses of the voters this year is a rather notable one. They refuse to become enthused and are not even talking politics to any great extent. So far as the governor's race is concerned, it may be accurately stated that the people throughout this section are waiting mainly on the decision of Judge W. E. Thomas, as to whether he will make the race.

It is expected that he will give out a definite statement soon after June 1. He is making a careful study of the situation in middle and north Georgia, and if he decides to run there will be a line-up behind him that will "start something" the moment he gets in the race. If Judge Thomas does not run, the wisest political judges in this section admit that they don't know who will be strongest throughout this and neighboring counties. Judge Nat Harris has many friends and admirers here, as has Doctor Hardman. The latter married a Valdosta girl; he has visited this city many times, and probably has more friends and acquaintances than any other candidate. Mr. Anderson will get a good vote here, and though a south Georgia man, is known personally to very few people here. The indications are that Hon. W. J. Harris will get a small vote in this section.

Slaton in the Lead.

In the senatorial race, Governor Slaton seems unquestionably in the lead, and his friends are active for him in a quiet way. While Mr. Felder and Mr. Hardwick have begun an active campaign, neither has visited this section yet and there have been no political speeches so far. There is not likely to be any change in the situation soon.

The race for congress from the eleventh district between Congressman J. R. Walker and Hon. J. A. J. Henderson, though up to now rather luke-warm itself, is getting more attention than anything else in politics. Tips received here this week indicate that the campaign is going to be a bitter one, though the present situation may continue for thirty days or longer. Mr. Henderson is paying considerable attention to this end of the district and has made three or four visits already to this and adjoining counties. Congressman Walker, according to advices received by his friends, will remain at his post in the house until congress adjourns on the 1st of July. He is expected to return home then and will probably deliver speeches in all of the counties of the district. The joint debates which enlivened the campaign between him and Judge Parker two years ago will likely be missed in the race this year.

Why Georgia Should Have A Botanical Garden

Editor Constitution: The writer believes the great state of Georgia, with its wealth of flora, and its adaptability to the growth of unnumbered indigenous plants, as well as exotics drawn from the greater part of the world, should possess a botanical garden.

A garden of plants is not a rich man's luxury, but approaches more nearly the status of a poor man's school.

If the plain Quaker botanist, John Bartram, could establish a botanical garden near Philadelphia as early as 1739, cannot the wealth of Georgia in 1914 create and support such a beneficent plant?

A botanical garden should be planted to conserve the desirable specimens of varied plant life, each tree and shrub placed where it will reach its greatest possible perfection regardless of the vista or point of observation. For want of a garden of plants, Georgia's native flora is disappearing.

The Gordonia, discovered near the Altamaha river, by Bartram, before the revolutionary war, and named by him Gordonia Frankinia, is now doubtless extinct as an indigenous tree.

If preservation is neglected in botanical gardens, the very few existing specimens of Gordonia Altamaha, descended from Bartram's tree, will be lost to the world forever.

As a source of information regarding plant life, plant history, plant growth, together with the specific requirements of different plants as to soil, sun, shade and exposure, no substitute can take the place of a botanical garden. To the majority of our people the information that the builder of every home requires regarding blooming plants, trees and ornamental shrubs, is not now obtainable.

When the squandering of money chargeable to ignorance in the planting of home grounds is considered (and of which we have no way of gathering statistics), I am sure, judging from my observation, that many times more in actual cash is wasted through ignorance than would necessarily be spent in the maintenance of the object lesson which a true botanical garden teaches

A Great Boon.

The good derived from a garden of acclimatization is not reserved to benefit the educated botanist, but extends its useful lesson of beauty and adaptation of plant life to all those desiring information.

The opinions expressed by the world's recognized leading scientists and political economists surely are worthy of our consideration.

Prof. T. H. Huxley declared that one of the greatest boons which could come to England would be effected if every child could be instructed in the elements of botany and physics.

Again he says, "To a person uninstructed in natural history, his country or seaside stroll is a walk through a gallery filled with wonderful works of art, nine-tenths of which have their faces turned to the wall. Teach him something of natural history, and you place in his hands a catalogue of those which are worth turning round."

John Stuart Mill eulogizes the scientific classifications in natural history—as comparable to a code of laws.

The plant gardens of the world have generally come into existence through the generosity of some individual endowment. The state of Georgia is so short of funds that the payment of teachers, pensions and maintenance money of state institutions is now in arrears, hence no one could ask an appropriation from a depleted treasury. No fully equipped botanical garden I believe exists in the south Atlantic states, hence the need is greater here than elsewhere.

Will not some one of our rich altruistic citizens devote money to supply Georgia's need, and perpetuate his own name by his generosity?

Would any resident of Georgia ever have heard of Henry Shaw, except for Shaw Gardens, at St. Louis, Mo.? Who knew of the life of the merchant James Arnold, yet all the world is debtor to Arnold Arboretum, Massachusetts, created through his initial endowment. By a similar act of generosity I hope to see some American family name perpetuated in ———— Botanical Garden of Georgia.

Applicable to him, who shall thus benefit the state, are the words the immortal Shakespeare puts into the mouth of Antony as a climax in his eulogy on Caesar:

"Moreover, he hath left you all his walks,
His private arbours and new planted orchards,
On this side Tiber; he hath left them you,
And to your heirs forever, common pleasures,
To walk abroad, and recreate yourselves.
Here was a Caesar! Whence comes such another?"

Cross at Regular Crossings.

Editor Constitution: For the general welfare of the public, would it not be a wise and timely suggestion to recommend some means, legislative or otherwise, to keep pedestrians out of the street excepting at street crossings. I belong to this majority and probably am among the worst of the offenders who persist in crossing the street where most convenient, but anyone who is the least bit observing, cannot help but notice the many accidents and many more "near" accidents that are caused by this carelessness.

Some cities compel pedestrians to keep out of the street excepting at regular crossings and enforce the matter very strenuously, and while it would be difficult to define the regular crossings at such places as Five Points, Library Square, etc., yet it will simply be a matter of a short time when this thing will have to be settled, and it may as well be done before one or more fatal accidents compel drastic measures.

CANAL TOLLS VOTE COMING THIS WEEK

Only Anti-Trust Measures Stand in Way of Adjournment—Some Senators in Favor of Curtailing Trust Program.

Washington, May 31.—The long awaited vote on the tolls exemption repeal bill will be taken in the senate before Saturday night unless all the plans of the leaders fail. Both opponents and those who favor the passage of the measure are agreed that there is no need for prolonging debate beyond the present week, and when the few speeches already announced have been delivered, action will be demanded on the bill and all the amendments proposed to it.

There is a prospect that the house will finish its trio of anti-trust bills by the end of the week and pave the way for adjournment in July, if senate leaders can reach an agreement on the amount of trust legislation they believe the country needs and desires at this time.

Anti-Trust Measures.

The appropriation bills can be passed in senate and house in quick order, and practically only the trust program stands in the way of adjournment by July 20 as leaders desire. Senate committee in charge has put in a week's hard work on anti-trust bills before it, and is expected to reach a decision on how much legislation it will recommend to the senate by the middle of the week. There is a motion before the committee to report only one bill in the hope that with its passage adjournment will be taken with the understanding that other trust legislation shall be brought before the senate next winter. Despite the fact that President Wilson's recent remarks to Ohio and Illinois business men are regarded in some quarters as an announcement that he will not be satisfied with less than all three bills to be passed by teh house, many senators are said to feel that the passage of a trade commission bill by the senate will prove sufficient.

First Test on Tolls Repeal.

The tolls repeal bill will figure daily in the senate until the vote is taken, but the first test for the senators who favor arbitration of the question of American exemption of coastwise ships from toll payment, will come Wednesday when the foreign relations committee will vote on an arbitration resolution. Even the friends of arbitration do not claim that a favorable report from this committee will mean that the arbitration plan will be adopted, but the committee's action is awaited with interest.

The senate has taken up the naval appropriation bill and probably will complete it by the end of the week, if the repeal bill is disposed of within a few days. Progress on this bill has been rapid and several other appropriation bills ready for senate consideration may be put through within a few weeks.

Trust Legislation in House.

House leaders hope to dispose of the anti-trust legislation and send three bills over to the senate by the close of the week. Both sides, majority and minority leaders, who insist that there is a likelihood of adjournment of congress by July 15, or at least the latter part of July, favor this program. Among the house leaders, there is a decided belief that the senate will act only on the interstate trade commission measure.

It is expected that the house will complete the Clayton omnibus anti-trust bill tomorrow or Tuesday. "Calendar Wednesday," the parliamentary name for the one day in the week when only bills on the calendar can be considered and the day that has been devoted for weeks past to monotonous discussion of the bill to revise the judicial code, will intervene but the Rayburn bill for federal control of railroad issues of stocks and bonds is expected to be taken up Thursday, with a prospect of passage within two days. Then will come the steps for final passage in quick succession of all three bills, the final vote having been deferred until they all had been considered in committee of the whole.

Exemption of Labor Unions.

There may be a lively discussion tomorrow when the sections of the Clayton bill to exempt labor unions from the anti-trust laws, come up for action, but leaders predict a mild attack because of the agreement between the judiciary committee and the labor advocates. In addition to the bills declaration that the anti-trust laws shall not be construed to forbid the existence and operation of fraternal, labor, consumers, agricultural or horticultural organizations, nor to prevent their individual members from carrying out "the legitimate objects thereof," the amendment to be voted on tomorrow would provide that such organizations and their members shall not be held or construed to be illegal combinations in restraint of trade under the anti-trust laws. Another amendment would legalize peaceable strikes and boycotts.

Anxious for Adjournment.

With these amendments out of the way, the most troublesome controversy since the anti-trust bills were reported out of committee will have been disposed of, and those in charge of the Clayton bill say the rest of the way should be easy. The passage of the three bills is the main work left for the session, and the members of the house are becoming anxious for adjournment, particularly in view of the approach of the campaign.

All the committees of the house have slowed down for the session. There is continued talk of another caucus to add to the legislative program, particularly from the advocates of rural credits legislation, sponsors of a dam bill, of a national leasing bill and other conservation plans indorsed by the administration also are urging action before adjournment.

Five Trainmen Killed.

Connellsville, Pa., May 31.—Five trainmen were killed and two perhaps fatally injured today when a passenger locomotive on the Connellsville division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was derailed at Cook's Mills. The locomotive was running light. An extra freight crew was aboar dthe engine.

CHURCH IS IN NEED OF A "REFORMATION," SAYS DR. HOLDERBY

At Moore Memorial church Sunday morning, Dr. Holderby spoke on the "Uncertain Attitude of the Church Towards the Great Moral Reforms of the present Day."

The sermon is in part, as follows:

"The charge given by the Apostle Paul to the church at Corinth, when he wrote, 'Stand fast in the faith, quit you like men,' is a charge which comes with equal force to the entire church of the present day. To stand fast in the faith means to stand for the doctrines and principles of the gospel. It is the command of a general to his soldiers—to stand firm in time of battle.

"But the church is not obeying this command of her captain today. She is wavering and ready to sound a retreat. The church today is doubting some of the cardinal doctrines of the Bible. The doctrine of sin—of the atonement—of the Deity of Jesus Christ—of eternal punishment—the virgin birth of Jesus are all being assailed by people in the church as never before.

"There is also a lack of aggressiveness upon the part of the church which is truly deplorable. The militant spirit seems to have left the church. There is but little fighting going on, while the enemy is coming in like a flood.

"The church is in as much need of a 'reformation' as it was in the sixteenth century. We need a Luther and a Calvin and a John Knox to lead the church against the forces of evil."

TECH BOYS TO PRESENT PLAY BY BERNARD SHAW

Theater-goers are looking forward with much interest to the performance of Shaw's "Devil's Disciple," by the Tech Dramatic club. No other players' club in Atlanta has ever staged a play from the pen of Bernard Shaw, who is one of the foremost literary figures of modern times.

The play is one of intense interest in both setting and dramatic situations. The scenes are laid in a little New England town during the time of the American revolution and the plot deals with the events surrounding the execution of one of the rebels, the Presbyterian minister, who is considered the best man in the town.

Throughout the play one feels the strong contrast between the hard, narrow belief of the puritan, and the broad and more charitable religion of the so-called "Devil's Disciple."

Shaw says: "It is in a time of trial that a man finds his true profession," and it is the development of this thought that makes the plot of the play. The "Devil's Disciple" finds that in the hour of trial it is his destiny to suffer, and be faithful to death, and the quiet minister of the gospel of peace realizes that it is his destiny to be a man of action and to take his place as a leader in the revolution.

The play is very successfully cast, and will prove to be the greatest achievement of the Tech club.

URGES CONGREGATION TO LOOK FOR CHRIST

In a sermon before a packed house at the East Side tabernacle last night, Pastor A. C. Shuler preached on "The Sayings of Jesus," and declared, among other things, that the "Signs of the times" point to the early return of Christ in person to "dispense justice and render judgment upon all who shall not be prepared for His appearing."

He took issue with the preacher who would put all the emphasis of his teaching on preparation for living and neglect to an extent preparation for dying, declaring that no man is prepared for living till he is prepared for dying.

"A high type of civilization is no safeguard against the powers of sin," said the pastor.

"It's no argument that the world is growing spiritually better. There have been other civilizations, and they have ended in wreck and ruin. No civilization that takes bread from the mouths of the poor to build palaces for the rich can stand; and so long as we behold the avarice, greed and selfishness, fruits of sin, manifested notwithstanding twentieth century civilization, we are reminded that it requires something mightier and better than civilization to reach the needs of the human race."

ATLANTA TYPO UNION DEDICATES MONUMENT

Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48 held memorial exercises and dedicated their monument Sunday afternoon at Oakland cemetery in the presence of a large crowd.

Mayor Woodward, in his address, made an interesting talk setting forth fifty years of reminiscence in the printing history. He compared the printer of fifty years ago with the printer of today; the one with a bare apronful of type, two cases, an old Washington handpress and a pine board for a composing stone; the other with great and numerous machines and almost unlimited supply of type and printing contrivances.

Mrs. Jesse Johnston, president of the Woman's auxiliary to the union, presented the monument, and President Jesse W. Armistead delivered the speech of acceptance.

The program was continued Sunday night at the English Lutheran church, where Philip Weltner delivered an address.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON AT HOLMES INSTITUTE

The baccalaureate sermon of the Holmes institute, of which B. R. Holmes is president, took place at Allen Temple A. M. E. church Sunday at 11 a. m. The sermon was preached by Rev. R. V. Branch. At 8 p. m. the annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. M. Byrd, vice president of Morris Brown university.

Dr. Byrd said that the school was one of the leading agencies for the saving of young men and women. The great need of the race is to save the young men of the race who are doing so much to increase crime. Principal Holmes said that the school had touched more than one thousand students this term who had never been touched by Christian influences. The commencement will take place in the chapel of the Holmes institute Monday night at 8 o'clock.

ATLANTA BOYS NABBED RIDING BLIND BAGGAGE

Cordele, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—When they were discovered by the conductor riding the "blind baggage" of the Dixie Flyer over the Georgia Southern and Florida railway last night, three youths giving Atlanta as their place of residence, were taken in charge by police officers who will hold them until communication with relatives in Atlanta can be had. The youths give their names as Charlie Thompson, Joe Ganzlez and Kenzie Casey, aged 14, 13 and 12 years, respectively. They stated that they were placed on the train by an unknown man who wanted them to go to Jacksonville with the promise of giving them jobs. Chief of Police Sumner has communicated with Police Chief Beavers in regard to them.

UNIVERSITY HERE FOR METHODISTS

Dr. C. O. Jones Discusses the Action Taken by Conference in Oklahoma City on Vanderbilt.

In a comprehensive review of the work of the Methodist conference recently brought to a close in Oklahoma City, Okla., Rev. C. O. Jones, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, touched on the muchly agitated Vanderbilt university subject, in his sermon Sunday morning.

As a member of the board, Dr. Jones dwelt at considerable length on the majority report, and emphasized the necessity of the establishment of a university in Atlanta. He pointed to the fact that already a university is being established west of the Mississippi, at Dallas, Texas, and said that an institution in Atlanta will fill the needs of the church east of the Mississippi.

University in Atlanta.

"Some day the church will be able to obtain rights in the university," said Dr. Jones, "but some day the church will also have a university under its absolute control. The institution will be located in Atlanta. That I am sure of. The church, Atlanta and Georgia will support the movement.

"The Methodist church today is three or four times greater in numbers and in wealth than it was forty years ago, and could now control three or four universities."

Dr. Jones used calm language throughout his address, and not once was he harsh in his comments on the courts or the board of trust. He said that he favored the majority report because the church had tried the courts of Tennessee and had entertained no hope of regaining its rights in the university. He declared that the decision of the Tennessee supreme court has deprived the church of its rights in the control of Vanderbilt, rights which it controlled for forty years.

Discussing other subjects of interest decided at the Oklahoma conference, Dr. Jones took up the matter of unification of Methodism throughout the United States in four divisions similar to the federal government.

Indorses Tobacco Rule.

He also spoke encouragingly of the effect of the resolution adopted at the conference which forces young ministers to pledge themselves against the use of tobacco. Dr. Jones said that the resolution will have a wholesome effect, and was greatly pleased to note the effect it is already having.

Laity rights, a movement started by Methodist churchwomen, was also discussed by Dr. Jones. This matter was launched as a desire on the part of women to occupy the same places as men, although it was denied at the conference that the women expected to aspire for clerical rights. The resolution was defeated in the conference. Dr. Jones discussed it impartially from both sides, pointing out the good and the bad features.

DR. DUBOSE ON VANDERBILT.

Rev. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist church, in his sermon Sunday morning, reviewed the action of the general conference at Oklahoma City against Vanderbilt university.

Dr. DuBose made no comment upon the administration of Vanderbilt, but cited the recommendation of the committee of fifteen, of which he was a member, that a new school of the grade of a university, and a new theological seminary be established, and advised that the further recommendation of the committee was that these joint schools be made of first rank, such as the Methodist church would be justly proud.

Dr. DuBose was optimistic in referring to Atlanta as the probably site of the joint schools, paying tribute to this city as the most logical location that could be found.

CAMDEN TO BE NAMED TO SUCCEED BRADLEY

Frankfort, Ky., May 31.—Governor James B. McCreary has announced that on June 16 he would name Johnson M. Camden, of Woodford county, United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator W. O. Bradley. Mr. Camden, it is stated, will accept the appointment and will be a candidate for the short term, which will begin with the November elections and end March 4, 1915, when the regular six-year term of Senator Bradley's successor will begin. Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, General Bennett H. Young, head of the United Confederate Veterans, and former Congressman David H. Smith, it is stated, also will be candidates for both the short and long terms. Candidates of the democratic and republican parties for both the long and short senatorial terms must be nominated at the primaries this August.

Mr. Camden, who is chairman of the state democratic executive committee, is a noted horse breeder and son of the late United States Senator Johnson N. Camden, of West Virginia.

BANKS REFUSE TO GIVE DATA TO EQUALIZERS

Cordele, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—That the five banks of Cordele will unite to make an attack upon the constitutionality of the tax law passed at the last session of the legislature is practically a certainty. The grounds upon which the banks contend the constitutionality of the law will probably be threshed out in a test case against the county board of tax equalizers, attempting to enjoin them from the exercise of the authority given them under the law to require the officials of any bank to reveal depositors' accounts.

The bankers do not believe that the law should include within its scope of powers to the state tax commissioner or county tax assessors the authority to force them to reveal the relationship existing between the banks and their customers, which is regarded as strictly confidential insofar as banking rules are concerned.

DR. PROCTOR URGES FREE BATHS TO BOYS

"A Basket of Summer Fruit" was the text of the sermon of Rev. H. H. Proctor at the First Congregational church, colored, yesterday morning. Among other things, he said:

"Our church affords special opportunities for service. One of these is in the supply of ice water through our sanitary drinking fountain for the public. Free baths to boys through our shower bath would be a contribution to the betterment of the city. The teaching of the scriptures in a daily vacation Bible school for the children who would otherwise roam our streets would be a public service."

NOW THOUGHT HINDSMAN WAS KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Columbus, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The theory is now suggested that W. P. Hindsman, who was found dead on the night of May 23 on Thirteenth street and whose death has proved an absolute mystery, was not murdered as at first presumed, but may have been accidentally killed. Sheriff Beard thinks that he was killed by a stray bullet. The bullet split when it struck his skull and only half-imbedded itself there.

WAYNESBORO PARTY THROWN FROM AUTO AND BADLY INJURED

Waynesboro, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) While returning from Augusta last night Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson and a colored chauffeur were thrown out of their car and the two gentlemen suffered broken ribs, broken shoulders and had their hands hurt, while the ladies were badly shaken up.

The accident was due to the carelessness of a negro driving up the road in a wagon and the fact that he was asleep and did not move to allow the car to go by. The party was brought to the city from the scene of the accident, which was about 11 miles away, and given medical attention. Today they are resting comfortably.

this time Governor Slaton was not a candidate and had publicly announced that he would not be unless his appointee should fail to run. The public knew then, as they know now, that his appointee would fail to run. Instead of having a string tied to the appointment, he had a 3-inch cable, capable of drawing a six-ton elevator loaded to capacity. But at this time there was no question involved as to whether Governor Brown should run against Governor Slaton or not. It is true that Slaton had started his final flirtation by inviting West out, and preparing to enter himself.

While I was at Governor Brown's home, by appointment, Colonel Frederic J. Paxon appeared on the scene. Colonel and Mrs. Paxon added to those present, made eight in number. At the time Colonel Paxon arrived Governor Brown and I were discussing a matter which is now pending before the interstate commerce commission. Colonel Paxon joined in the conversation for a few minutes, and then shifted to the question of politics. I shall not divulge, at this time or any other time without the consent of Colonel Paxon and Governor Brown, anything that was said in this conversation except that which has already been published (and published without my knowledge or authority), but during the course of this conversation Colonel Paxon asked Governor Brown what he thought of Governor Slaton entering the race for the United States senate to succeed Senator Bacon.

Governor Brown replied: "Such a move upon the part of Governor Slaton would spell political calamity with a big K." This statement was later published in The Savannah Press with only one word—and that was immaterial—wrongly quoted. Colonel Paxon rushed into the press with an unqualified denial that Governor Brown used any such language, and stated that I was present when the conversation occurred.

Had to Take Stand.

This made it imperative for me to either confirm a lie or to stand for truth—and I unhesitatingly pursued the latter course. I now reaffirm that Governor Brown used this language, and that he has stated to me since that time that he did use that language verbatim. The truth is that the public has long since recognized the language as characteristic of Governor Brown, and of no other person. I have entered into no controversy with Colonel Paxon in regard to what Governor Brown intended to do. But I have stated over my signature that if he (Colonel Paxon) would come square out with the truth regarding the above matter his position would be very much strengthened before the public. I repeat this now.

I have said that I have been deceived by Governor Brown. I shall give the facts and let the public draw its own conclusions. There have been no secret conferences between Governor Brown and myself. I have dealt frankly with Governor Brown, and I had the right to presume that he was dealing frankly with me.

On the day following my visit and that of Colonel Paxon to Marietta, Governor Brown came to my office, by appointment, at 11 o'clock. We discussed politics until 1. Then we went to the Hotel Ansley and had lunch together, and returned to my office and discussed the same subject until about 2:30 o'clock. Governor Brown expressed a desire to see Colonel Paxon for the purpose of emphasizing the message that he had sent to Governor Slaton the day before, which he informed me was along the lines suggested above. At his request I called Colonel Paxon at his store, but found he was at lunch. I then called his residence, and he responded.

Made Engagement.

I made an engagement for Governor Brown with him, as I remember it, at 3:30 o'clock. Governor Brown remained at my office until about that time. During our entire discussion the question of his entering the race for the short term was the subject. Governor Slaton had not at that time made his public announcement. On the Saturday following, however, near the hour of midnight, Governor Slaton emerged from under the dome of the state capitol with the announcement of his candidacy.

So far as I was concerned, this had no bearing whatever upon the situation. I had no intimation but that the same would be true with Governor Brown. He had frequently criticised Governor Slaton, as the above language would clearly indicate, for leaving the position which the people had given him and which he had held for only a short time.

A few days later, I went to Marietta and further discussed the matter with Governor Brown. I was there for several hours. During the interval, it had gone out over the state that Governor Brown was considering entering the race for the unexpired term. While I was at Governor Brown's home, The Atlanta Constitution called him up and asked him for a statement. He wrote out a statement and gave it to me and requested me to bring it to Atlanta and turn it over to Mr. John Reese with the request that he copy it and send it to his correspondents. The tone and tenor of this announcement was a criticism of all the candidates who had thus far entered the race, including Governor Slaton, and expressing the belief that the people would hold an open mind for some time to come. If this indicated or suggested anything, it was that he would be a candidate for public office.

Makes Answer to Labor.

About this time, the Federation of Trades at Macon severely criticised Governor Brown and he informed me that it was his purpose to place before the public the true status of the labor organizations, and in a measure this diverted attention from politics. His articles were discussed at length and some of them were put in typewritten form in my office, and delivered to the press.

During all this time I was frequently with Governor Brown, and upon every occasion we discussed politics more or less. Only twice during all the discussion, do I remember, that he referred to making the race for the long term. The entire discussion was devoted to the question of his making the race to succeed Senator Bacon. A number of minute details of the campaign were discussed. We had both been watching the trend of the press and I had preserved all the clippings that might be of interest, carefully noting the papers in the state that would be for or against him should he make the race. I had informed Governor Brown just what he could expect of me in a personal way, and he had thanked me very cordially and showed much appreciation, which encouraged me to pursue the course that I have pursued until now. Never at any time during our discussions did he intimate that he did not intend making this race, but everything that was said or done was to the contrary. It is true that he did not state in so many words that he did intend making the race.

On my last visit he stated to me that 90 per cent of his mail was urging him to make the race against Senator Smith. I thoroughly understood this, and I think Governor Brown will just a little later. I doubt if he has ever been up against a real "gum-shoe" politician before.

Believed He Would Run.

During all this time I have consistently upheld Governor Brown and made every effort that was legitimate and upright to keep him before the public. I fully believed that it was his purpose to make the race for the United States senate to succeed Senator Bacon. My public utterances on the subject have been based on the facts above stated. I did it in good faith, and I now leave it to the public as to whether or not I had a right to expect more frankness from Governor Brown than I have received. Since he has attempted in the public press to settle the controversy between Colonel Paxon and myself, I now ask him in the interest of justice and fair play to come out squarely and admit that he used the language as printed in The Savannah Press in regard to Governor Slaton's making the race for the senate to succeed Senator Bacon to the effect "that such a move upon the part of Governor Slaton would spell political calamity with a big K." When Governor Brown does this, then, and not until then, he will have settled the controversy.

In conclusion, I wish to say that my interest in politics has been for what I believed to be the common good. I have stood by the principles of government that I believed would further the interests of the masses of our people. My loyalty and fidelity to those principles will not be shaken nor in the slightest degree disturbed by what individuals say or do. Respectfully,

J. R. SMITH.

CAMILLA AND PELHAM GIVEN BETTER RATES

Thomasville, Ga., May 31.—(Special. Hon. Roscoe Luke, of this city, one of the attorneys representing Camilla and Pelham in their fight for better freight rates, was notified a few days ago that the interstate commerce commission had decided favorably to these towns and they would be given the same rates as Albany. In their plea before the commission the citizens of the two towns showed that they were being discriminated against, and asked that the rates be adjusted so that they be on an equal basis with all points similarly situated. The order stipulates that the adjustment of rates is to take place October 1, 1914.

U. S. SENATOR FLETCHER OPPOSED BY STOCKTON

Florida Will Hold Its Primary Under the New Law on Tuesday.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 30.—Nomination of candidates for federal and state offices will take place Tuesday under Florida's new primary law. It is the intention of the law that all political parties nominate candidates at the primary, but this year only democratic candidates qualified. Nomination on the democratic ticket is equivalent to election in Florida.

Under the new law, voters cast ballots for first and second choice, insuring a nomination in the first primary thus making a second primary unnecessary, as was the case under the old system when no candidate received a majority vote.

Besides one candidate for United States senator and national representatives from the four congressional districts of the state, a number of state officials, members of the state legislature and various county officers will be nominated.

Duncan U. Fletcher, candidate for renomination as United States senator, is opposed by John N. C. Stockton. Senator Fletcher's term expires March 3, 1915.

Representative Stephen M. Sparkman, chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee, is opposed for renomination in the first district by A. J. Angle and J. Fred de Berry.

Representative Frank Clark is opposed by John Denton for renomination in the second district.

Representative Emmett Wilson is opposed for renomination in the third district by John Stokes.

Claude L'Engle, at present representative state-at-large, is opposed for renomination in the newly created fourth district by St. Elmo W. Acosta, W. H. Malone, W. J. Sears and Albert Williamson.

Kryptok Bifocals

Why we make Kryptok Bifocals and recommend them. First of all, because of their convenience. They give Near and Far Vision in one solid glass, doing away with two pairs of glasses. They can be more perfectly ground than any other bifocal known, no ugly seams or pieces to blister or come loose. We make them in Toric or Curved form, giving a larger field both for reading and distance. Each pair is made to order, conforming to the face in every detail. Your best friend would never know you have on bifocals. They are absolutely invisible while on the face. They are a joy, not a discomfort. Ask some of our patients how they are pleased.

BILLIES HAMMER TWO LOCAL HURLERS

Edited By DICK JEMISON

Billiken Batsmen Rout Two Cracker Twirlers and Locals Drop Game 6 to 2

By Bradley Allen.

Montgomery, Ala., May 31.—(Special.)—After losing six of the eight games on a road trip the Montgomery team opened a three-game series with Atlanta this afternoon and won the game by a count of 6 to 2. This was Atlanta's first appearance on the Montgomery grounds this year.

Billy Smith picked Gil Price for mound duty, while Gilks' choice was Chuck Case.

Gilks proved to be the better general, as Case allowed the Crackers only seven hits during the nine innings, while the Montgomery batters secured four hits off Price in the opening inning, after two were down and the bases empty, and scored three runs.

Smith sent Price to the showers after the first inning, and Browning relieved the southpaw. Browning pitched well until the seventh when four hits netted the Billikens two runs, while in the eighth the hits were bunched for one run.

The fielding of both clubs was spectacular, fast and faultless, neither club registering an error.

Kircher Chased Again.

Rudderham, working behind the bat, removed Kircher from the coaching lines in the seventh, much against the wishes of the Montgomery fans.

Montgomery hit Price hard in the first inning, though it was not until after two were out that a hit was made. The first two up hit hot ones at Price, who knocked them down, and threw them out at first.

Daly poked one by Kircher for one base. Snedecor beat out a slow one to McConnell, and both scored on Elwerts drive over Welchonce's head for three bases.

Jantzen hit one too hot for Price, and Elwert scored. Knaupp flied to Welchonce for the third out.

Montgomery was unable to score on Browning until the seventh, when the Billikens scored two. Jantzen led off with a three-bagger to right center. Knaupp hit a hot one at Jennings which took a bad bound and went to left field. Knaupp reached first and Jantzen scored. Knaupp stole second and scored on Donahue's safety to left for one. Pat was thrown out, Long to Browning to McConnell, when he tried to reach second. Case fanned. Hollander singled to center but was out trying to steal.

Final Billie Counts.

Again in the eighth the Billikens scored, with one down Daley made Kircher to Eibel. Elwert singled to second on Snedecor's infield out, Kircher to Eibel. Elwert singled to left, scoring Daley, and took second on the throw to the plate. Jantzen's roller to Jennings retired sides.

Atlanta shaded a counter over in the fifth. Jennings opened with a three-base hit to right and scored on Flanagan's sacrifice fly to the same garden. Dunn popped out to Snedecor. Browning fanned. Long prized open the seventh with a two-base clout to left. Welchonce fouled to Elwert. Jennings' Texas leaguer over second base advanced Long to third, from where he scored on Flanagan's long sacrifice fly to right, his second of the game.

Probable batteries for Monday's game: For Montgomery, Lively and Donahue; for Atlanta, Williams and Tyree.

Memphis, Tenn., May 31.—Mobile's players kept their bats busy today, pounding Holmes for a total of sixteen hits, two of them doubles and two triples and won over Memphis, 10 to 0. O'Dell, Schmidt and Perry fattened their batting averages more than the others. Townsend, pitching for Mobile, allowed only five widely scattered hits.

Nashville, Tenn., May 31.—Floyd Kroh was in great form today and Nashville took the first game of the series from New Orleans by a score of 5 to 0. The hitting of Callahan and Paulet and the great fielding of Williams, Hemmingway and King featured. Seven thousand people saw the game. Kissinger was hit hard in the pinches and errors by himself and First Baseman Bluhm helped the locals to score.

CRACKERS' NEW RECEIVER

CATCHER TYREE,

Young receiver secured by the Crackers from the Chicago Cubs, whose work so far stamps him as a very capable receiver. His acquisition seems to have added strength to the team.

Charley Frank Day At Ponce Thursday; Pels vs. Crackers

Former New Orleans Manager to Be Honored by Atlanta Club and Fans—Loving Cup Presented.

Thursday will be Charley Frank day at Ponce de Leon park, the local baseball management setting aside that day in honor to Charles Frank, manager of the New Orleans team last season and vice president of the Southern league this season.

Atlanta fans remember the service that the wily Dutchman rendered the local team last season when he defeated Mobile in that Sunday game, thereby giving the pennant to Atlanta.

At that time a subscription list was started for a handsome loving cup to be presented to Frank at a Charley Frank day this season. Thursday has been designated as the day, and Frank will be present.

Finis Wilson, who twirled for the Pelicans in that momentous game, and Tim Hendryx, whose wallops drove in the winning runs, will play against the Crackers Thursday.

This is the first appearance of the Pels here this season. The locals have some old scores to settle, as the Birds won three out of four in New Orleans.

LAST OF PRICE

Sunday's defeat at the hands of the Montgomery Billikens just about marks the passing of Gilbert Eugene Price as a member of the Atlanta pitching staff.

We are informed that Manager Smith chose him Sunday in an effort to give him one last chance to make good. Advices via the grapevine from Montgomery are to the effect that Billy is figuring on a trade with some other Southern League club, whereby Price will be swapped for some player.

Price is a good pitcher when "right." He has apparently lost his effectiveness this season. Maybe a change of scene would be just what he needs, and if a trade can be arranged, maybe the Crackers and the team getting Price will both be helped.

Baron Scribe Likes Us

Billy Smith has garnered together a formidable ball club this season. The first appearance of the Crackers on Birmingham soil has impressed favorably local enthusiasts. The Crackers play with a vim and dash and are individually and collectively a well balanced and aggressive aggregation. Billy sat through the two defeats and chewed and chewed, while a look not wholly of dissatisfaction overspread his features. The bucolic Cracker boss realizes that he has a capable machine and has confidence that it will be heard from ere the present season wanes.—Asa Rountree in The Birmingham Age-Herald.

BRITISH POLO TEAM ARRIVES FOR MATCH

Britons Believe Their Team Is Formidable—May Change the Line-Up Later.

New York, May 31.—The British polo players who will take part in the international match, arrived here today on the steamer Carmania. The team is made up of Lord Wimborne, Major F. W. Barrett, Captain Leslie St. C. Cheape, Captain H. A. Tomkinson, Captain Vivian N. Lockett and John Traill.

After asking about the American team and the condition of the British and American ponies, Lord Wimborne said:

"We are anxious to begin practice, and the present arrangement is for us to have three practice games this week. All, I understood, will be played at Piping Rock, where we will go right away.

"Of course we hope to win, and our players, I think, will acquit themselves creditably. Our team is lighter than last year but on a fast field this will be all the better. I am satisfied that we have brought the best team available under the conditions."

Lord Wimborne said he did not know just how the team would line up, as changes might be necessary.

"Would a change of positions of players on the American team cause you to change some of your men's positions?" he was asked.

"Well, I can hardly answer that now," he replied, "but it does not follow that a change in ours would be necessary."

Lord Wimborne said he had no present intention of taking part in the matches, but should the occasion arise, through accident or some other unlooked for cause, he would play.

Captain Cheape said the British line-up probably would be as follows:

Tomlinson, No. 1; Cheape, No. 2; Barrett, No. 3, and Traill, back.

Southern Golf Tournament Starts at Memphis Tuesday

Memphis, Tenn., May 31.—Two hundred or more players are expected to drive off Tuesday in the qualifying round of the thirteenth annual tournament of the Southern Golf association to be played over the links of the Memphis Country club. Practically all of the forty clubs which compose the associations have signified an intention to send representatives.

Rules of the United States Golf association will govern the tournament. The championship division will be made up of the sixty-four players who turn in the lowest scores Tuesday, and by a process of elimination the first four flights of players will be made up. Second division players will be divided into two flights. All matches in the first division except finals and semi-finals will be of eighteen holes. The finals and semi-finals will be over thirty-six holes.

Texas is expected to send the largest delegation. Sixty entries have been received from that state. George V. Rotan, regarded as one of the strongest players in the southwest, will head the delegation from Waco. Lewis Jacobey, who has figured prominently in several southern tournaments, will be one of the Dallas team.

Fifteen players from New Orleans, headed by R. G. Bush, are already on the ground. Nelson Whitney, the present champion, is expected to arrive Tuesday morning from New Orleans. Others whose entries have been received include Ellis Knowles, Pensacola, Fla.; E. W. Daley and T. I. Webb, Jr., Nashville, Tenn.; G. N. Aldridge, Montgomery, Ala.; H. Tutweiler, R. H. Baugh, W. P. Ward and R. Steinmehl, Birmingham, Ala.; J. E. England, Little Rock, Ark.; F. Spurlock, A. W. Gaines, E H. McCoy and G. W. Adair, Chattanoonga, Tenn., and W. H. Rowan, Atlanta, Ga. The entry list will be closed tomorrow.

A cup will be awarded the winner in each flight and a trophy will be presented to the runners-up. A gold medal will go to the lowest qualifying score. A team match, with a cup as the trophy, is included in the events.

Perry and Hanlon Finish Training for Tuesday's Bout

Jimmy Perry and Eddie Hanlon have finished their training for their ten-round bout at the Orpheum theater Tuesday night.

This is the second meeting between these two sterling welters, Hanlon stopping Perry in the third round the last time they met.

In doing so, he uncorked the biggest surprise the Atlanta boxing public has ever had handed them.

Naturally he rules as the favorite in the coming bout with Perry, and Hanlon's friends say he is going to repeat the dose.

Perry's supporters laugh at such pretensions, and say that Jimmy did not train faithfully for the bout, believing Hanlon to be easy.

But with Hanlon a much improved boy and Perry trained to the minute, a great battle can be expected.

Jimmy's friends say the Pittsburger is going to give Hanlon a lesson in the manly art of self-defense.

Judging from the advance sale of seats, the banner house in the history of local boxing is going to be on hand.

JOE DAWSON STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Indianapolis, Ind., May 31.—Of the six men injured yesterday in the 500 miles automobile race. Joe Dawson alone remained in the hospital today. Physicians said his condition was serious.

DR. NAT THORNTON MUST DEFEND TITLE

Richmond, Va., May 31.—Crack tennis players from every section of the country are among the ninety-four entries for Old Dominion Tennis Tournament, which begins tomorrow on the courts of the Country Club of Virginia. Beals Wright, member of the Davis cup team, has entered for the doubles. Among those against whom Dr. Nat Thornton, of Atlanta, present holder of the cup, must defend his title, are: Theodore R. Vell, Wiley Grant and S. W. Merrihew, New York; Robert L. James, Saratoga Springs; Neil C. Stevens, former Yale star; Irving C. Wright, Boston; Charles N. Beard, New York; Andrew H. Allen, Hoosick Falls; Eugene Heine and William F. Harrity, Jr., Philadelphia.

DETECTIVES DIGGING FOR TRACES OF GIRL

Newcastle, Ind., May 31.—With the exception of a lengthy statement from R. H. Abel, the detective employed to investigate the disappearance on March 20, 1913, of 9-year-old Catherine Winters, there were few developments in the mystery today. Dr. W. A. Winters, father of the girl, and Mrs. Bird Winters, her stepmother, continued at liberty under bond, while W. H. Cooper, a former roomer in the Winters home, who was also arrested on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony, remained in jail in default of $5,000 bond.

The detective and the police today abandoned their search of the present Winters home and turned their attention to a former residence here. A disused well was opened and a quantity of lime dug out, but no body was found. In his statement Abel said that since the arrests of Dr. and Mrs. Winters yesterday, additional evidence had been found which would warrant him in placing a more serious charge against the three persons arrested and in the taking of a fourth person into custody. He declared that Dr. Winters, since his release, had interfered with his investigations. The detective said he had a letter, written by one of the three persons already arrested, which would figure prominently when the cases are brought to trial. Abel also intimated that part of his evidence consisted of records from a telephonic device.

Thus far no motive for connecting Dr. and Mrs. Winters and Cooper with the disappearance of Catherine has been made public, but it is known the girl was to have inherited a sum of money, said to have been $3,000.

Neithers the Winters, Cooper nor their attorneys have made any statement, but Dr. Winters has said he is ready to go on trial, and is sure he and his wife will be discharged.

The excitement caused by the arrests had not abated today, and hundreds of visitors flocked to the city.

GENERALLY FAIR SKIES FOR ENTIRE COUNTRY

Washington, May 31.—Generally fair skies, with temperatures near or above normal, were forecasted by the weather bureau tonight for the entire country this week.

"Rainfall during the week will be generally light and local," said the bulletin. "The next disturbance of importance will appear in the far west Tuesday or Wednesday, reach the great central valley Thursday or Friday and the eastern states near the end of the week.

"This disturbance will be attended by showers and thunderstorms, and be followed by a change to cooler weather over the northern states east of the Rocky Mountains."

GEORGIA LAW SENIORS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Athens, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The senior law class of the University of Georgia, about fifty in number, instead of holding a banquet this year gave a genuine old-time Georgia barbecue, inviting the local bar and the faculty.

The permanent officers of the class were elected as follows: H. D. Russell, of McDonough, president; W. K. Meadow, of Elebrton, permanent vice president, and Hugh Fuller, of Atlanta, permanent secretary and traesurer.

The Belgian chamber of deputies has passed a bill granting a pension of 360 francs a year for miners 55 years of age who have worked forty years in a mine.

BROOKLYN FIELD CLUB GIVEN SOCCER TROPHY

New York, May 31.—The United States Football association today presented the National Soccer championship trophy to the Brooklyn Field club.

Farmers and the Parcel Post.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears an editorial showing how farmers are not taking full advantage of the parcel post. Following is an extract:

GIANTS AND MACKS ARE BACK IN LEAD

Last Year's Pennant Winners Are Out in Front and Going Strong Again—Up to Pitchers Now.

New York, May 31.—The champions of the world and the champions of the National league worked into the lead in their respective organizations last week and today finds the "standing of the clubs" wearing a decidedly familiar aspect.

New York took the National league leadership through downing Brooklyn thrice on Memorial day and the day previous, while the Cincinnati Reds were cleaning a three-game series with Pittsburg.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, was taking first position in the American league by winning three out of four contests from the Yankees when Washington was breaking even in four contests with Boston.

The fact that the world's championship contenders of the last three years in the older league and of 1911 and 1913, in the younger apparently have struck their stride, does not neccessarily mean that the "big series" contests this fall again will be staged at the Polo grounds and at Shibe park.

But the fact that Connie Mack and John McGraw have their smachine working smoothly for the first time this year seems to bode little good for other championship contenders.

Up to Young Hurlers.

If anything beats Cornelius McGillicudy in 1914 it apparently will be the wildness of his young pitchers. However, Mack has his two veterans, Eddie Plank and Chief Bender, again pitching ball of the shout-out variety.

The week proved that the Mackmen will have formidable opposition from the Senators, who shot into the lead before mid-week, but fell back slightly in the week's latter half. Continuous double-headers do not agree with the Washingtons. Walter Johnson cannot retain effectiveness without suitable periods of rest.

As for Detroit a resumption of its winning streak may be expected as soon as Ty Cobb gets back. Back on home soil and with Cobb again in action, Detroit's chances appear by no means hopeless.

None of the other clubs in the league has shown signs of championship calibre.

Red's Play Features.

In the National league, the New Yorks decidedly were superior in play to the others, with the possible exception of Cincinnati. From the material which the new Cincinnati manager has, however, counted as decidedly second division class before the season started—it seems hardly possible that the Herzog clan's present pace can be kept up.

Pittsburg's drop was a feature of the week. The Pirates brought their defeats up to six straight by dropping the first game of the double-header today to the Reds, while the latter were swelling their record of consecutive victories to the same number. The Pirate pitchers are holding their end up, but the punch seems to have gone from the team's attack.

The Giant's chances lie in the effectiveness of their boxmen and the potency of their attack. Most of the Giant's recent victories have been decisive and their pitchers have shown superlative class.

The other National league teams that have improved most in recent play are Philadelphia and Boston.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There are a number of acts on the bill at the Forsyth this week of the sort that have stood the Atlanta test and helped to make the theater popular. Chief interest centers in the vaudeville debut of Little Emma Bunting in the tabloid of "The Princess of Patches," assisted by a selected company of six players. B. A. Rolfe presents one of the headline acts, in his "The Purple Lady," a clever one-act musical play with Ralph Lynn and a company of ten other clever entertainers. Miss Claire Rochester, a charming young Atlanta singer who has met with success in the east as a member of the Fields organizations, will make her first professional appearance at home. Claudius and Scarlet, in a melange of musical novelty; Kenny, Nobody and Platt, the original comedy singers, the Torleys, sensational bicyclists, and others are on the bill.

Four Little "Thrillers."

(At the Lyric.)

Four one-act dramas, ranging from comedy to tragedy, will be presented Monday night and all the week by the Lucille La Verne company, at the Lyric. Director Forbe's Aylmer, who produced the four little plays in Philadelphia last season, believes they will prove as great a success here, and the advance sale indicates larger audiences than have seen any previous La Verne offerings. Matinees will be given Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Photo-Plays.

(At the Grand.)

The Grand management promises another good program of photo-plays de luxe opening with two matinee performances today for a three-days engagement. "Goodness, Gracious," a comedy in three reels, featuring Clara Kimball Young, Sidney Drew and Ned Finley will be the big feature. "Lost in Mid-Ocean," a sensational film, is said to be equally as attractive, being a Vitagraph masterpiece in three parts and is as well acted, reports state as "Mr. Barnes, of New York," that created so much favorable comment last week. Pathe's latest weekly, Miss Jessie Huston, soprano and the Grand's ten-piece orchestra will complete the program. Performances at 2, 3:30, 7:30 and 9 p. m. Afternoons 10 cents; evenings 10 and 15 cents.

The Weather.

It is a rather risky thing to write an article about the weather that may have been prevailing disastrously for a month or two, when the article will not appear for several days. People forget the past, or lose interest in it when its disagreeable features have given place to refreshing showers of rain. Very few keep records of rainfalls, temperatures, etc., yet we frequently hear exclamations that a prevailing drouth has "broken the record." "All signs fail in dry weather" is a well-worn old proverb, to which may be added that so-called "weather prophets" fail of the truth about as often as they hit upon it, which shows that their prophesies partake very largely of the element of guesswork. Any person who has carefully noted the weather peculiarities of each month for a long period of years, or will inform himself by a study of the records, may safely predict that the month of April will be showery, May dry, June seasonable, July still more so, and that there will be heavy rainfalls in August. Such an observing man may further predict that September will be dry, October still dryer and November but little wetter than October. The fact is of long record that these months are usually—much oftener than otherwise—of the characters above indicated. The prophet of Greer's Almanac (Professor Otis Ashmore, of Savannah) is as good as the best of them, and moreover, he gives his weather forecasts as much as six months in advance. But he doesn't insist on their accuracy, nor that they have any further relation to the truth than the fact that they are based entirely on the recorded observations of the weather for many years in the past.

Most weatherwise observers of the winds and clouds and dews can foretell the weather that may occur within the next twelve to twenty-four hours. Scientific and professional weather observers, those who have charge of our national weather bureau service, and who are supposed to be on the watch day and night, who are in hourly correspondence by wire with thousands of official observers scattered from Maine to California and from Alaska to Florida, rarely venture to forecast further ahead than twenty-four to forty-eight hours. It would seem that these observers, possessed of every facility for observing, knowing at a given hour the weather conditions of the entire country, should be able, if anybody is able, to tell us what sort of weather to expect three or four days hence, or to say when the present drouth is going to end. But they don't do so and there you are. They just don't know and they are not trained guessers. See how often their prophecies of even next day's conditions fail to be realized.

Someone asked me the other day how the weather conditions of the past April and May compare with those of the same months of last year. The following comparison is from my own records of rainfall at my garden gate in the city of Griffin, Ga.:

Rainfall at Griffin, Ga., months of April and May, 1913-14:

1913. April		May
	Inches.		Inches.
11	0.68	7	0.15
12	0.06	16-17	0.72
27	0.08	19	0.20
		22	0.62
		23	0.50
		31	2.31
Total	0.82		2.31

1914. April		May
	Inches.		Inches.
8	0.40	4	0.23
14	1.90	7	0.23
19	0.25	17	0.07
Total	2.55		0.53

Thus it will be seen that there was not a large difference in rainfall between the totals of the two Aprils and Mays. Indeed the rainfalls for the two months were transposed. Note the total for April 1913 was 0.82 and that of may was 2.31; while the total for April in 1914 was 2.55 and the total for May was 0.53. The combined totals of the two months in 1913 was 3.18; and in 1914 the combined total of the two was 3.08. In 1913 April was short on rain and May was about average; in 1914 the fall was abundant in April, up to the 19th, and very short in May. It may be said that the two months changed places in 1914.

But it wasn't the dry weather that held back the first planting of cotton. It was the low temperature. Cotton seed will not germinate at a ground temperature of 60 degrees and under; nor will the young plants grow under the same conditions—low ground temperature. I grabbled up cotton seed that had been planted a week. They were surrounded by moist, mellow soil, and yet they showed no signs of sprouting. The temperature was too low.

At this time a considerable percentage of the area devoted to cotton in the east and middle parts of the cotton belt is without a stand of cotton. Much of this percentage the seeds are yet in the ground—presumably sound—and waiting only for sufficient moisture to cause germination. On another considerable portion the plants are few and scattered. Will cotton germinating as late as June 1 (now May 29) yield a satisfactory return? Is a question that is disturbing the minds of many farmers. The answer to the question depends on whether the cotton is of an early variety, such as King's or some sub-variety of that famous kind. Last year my little crop was planted on May 20 and when it came up it grew without let or hindrance and made a fair yield, perhaps four-fifths of a normal crop.

Cotton that comes up so late as the first week in June should receive the most careful and rapid cultivation. It should be put to a final stand as soon as possible and should be left closer than usual, say a stalk every twelve inches, when sixteen inches would have been the proper spacing if the cotton had come up several weeks earlier.

LEUCORRHEA (WHITES) OF COW.

J. W. F., Preston, Va.—Will you please tell me through the columns of your valued paper what to do for my cow. She is about 10 years old, and she brought a fine calf on April 27, and it was about a week before the afterbirth came I gave her burnt corn and everything, but it would only come so far and no farther. Finally she got so bad off I gave her about a teaspoonful of gunpowder, and it all came away, and she got better, but ever since then wherever she lays down there will come from her about half a pint of a thick, slimy stuff. Looks just like white of eggs.

Answer—Your cow has nothing more serious than leucorrhoea (whites) indicating a chronic inflammation of the womb due probably to the irritation caused by the retained placenta. Clean out the womb by injections of warm water, using two or three gallons for that purpose. Then inject into the womb a little of the following: One-half-ounce of sulphate of zinc, half-ounce carbolic acid, dissolved in 1 quart of water boiling hot and allowed to cool. The part should be cleaned once daily. If there are any ulcers they should be touched with nitrate of silver, and every second day until they appear healthy. Sometimes, if not improving, change the lotion to peroxyde of hydrogen (2 ounces, water 4 ounces. Repeat every day. As a tonic give her two teaspoons of copperas adn half teaspoonful of nux vomica in a bran mash twice a day for two weeks.

(1) LIME ON GARDEN; (2) STABLE MANURE COMPOST.

J. R. B., Thomasville, Ga.—(1) I wish to use slack lime under cabbage, beans, onions and strawberries. Will you please suggest how much and in what way or manner to apply it. (2) Do you think a compost of stable manure, acid phosphate, kainit and nitrate of soda would be good, and if so, in what proportions?

Answer.—I suspect from the way you put this question that you are under the impression that lime acts directly as a source of plantfood. This is not true, as it would be hard to find a soil that does not contain an amply supply of lime to answer the requirements of any kind of crop or plant. But the office of lime is to improve the mechanical texture of the soil and to neutralize its acidity, while at the same time it to some extent helps to make plant food available to a crop that was before not available. The ordinary use of the lime is to sweeten sour or acid soils. If a tumblerful of soil be stirred in water and allowed to settle and a strip of blue litmus paper be held in it a moment or two, the blue color of the paper will change to a pink if the soil is at all acid. This acidity is apt to be present in soils that for a long time have stood most of the time under water or saturated with water. Usually such soils are of very dark color—almost black.

The application of lime to a very stiff clay soil tends to open it up, and on a very open soil to make it more compact. When to be used for these two purposes, the lime must be very cheap in order to use it to profit.

An application of from one to one and a half tons of slacked lime per acre would be a good dressing for either of the purposes named. The best time to apply lime is in the fall or very early spring after thorough breaking with plow, then scatter the lime broadcast and harrow in lightly.

(2) A compost of stable manure, acid phosphate and kainit is all right, but of no especial advantage that I can see unless composted for the purpose of preventing the escape of ammonia from the decomposing stable manure. The proportions would depend upon the crops that are to be fertilized. Nitrate of soda, however, should not be included among the ingredients, as it could not possibly be benefited by such mixing.

LUMPY JAW OF COW.

W. D. Lee, Baker Hill, Ala.—I have a cow that is swelled under her throat. I first found it about March 15, about the size of a goose egg. It is now as large as my two fists at night, but goes down some time during the night. Several cows have died with this trouble in the past four years. Cow eats hearty. Please give me treatment and name of trouble. I inclose stamp for quick reply.

Answer—Your description of the swelling is not altogether satisfactory, but I strongly suspect that the disease is actinomysosis of the jaw, commonly called lumpy jaw or big jaw. Usually, as the swelling grows larger, ulcers discharging pus will form. The treatment is comparatively simple, and is usually effective if begun in time, as follows: Paint the surface of the swelling daily with tincture of iodine and give internally 1 to 1½ drams (teaspoonful) of iodide of potash night and morning in a pint of warm water. Continue the iodide for two weeks, then hold up for ten days, and then continue again, if necessary.

CHRONIC COUGH OF HORSE HEAVES!)

D. D. Chamblee, Zebulon, N. C.—I have a horse that has a cough caused by dusty dry feed and has been coughing for nearly four months, and I can't stop it. I wet all his dry feed good and put oil on his corn and oats. This helps to check the cough, but it does not stop it. He seems to cough more at night than in the day.

Answer—There are several causes of cough in a horse; (1) from a thickening of the membrane of the throat caused from distemper or a severe cold; (2) it may be the forerunner of heaves, or broken wind; (3) it may be due to some lung trouble or a nervous irritation of the throat. You should find out the cause of the cough or the part affected. If from the first above named cause nothing can be done for it. If it is the commencement of heaves the treatment for that disease will relieve it for a time, but there is no cure for heaves. This complaint may be recognized by the double effort to expel air from the lungs causing the animal to heave. But the cough is a forerunner. It is short and suppressed and seems to follow the slightest exercise, even the act of drinking water will bring it on. It is more troublesome after a full meal. Treatment: Feed regularly three times a day so as never to overload the stomach. Never feed more than 12 pounds of best hay (chopped and sprinkled) and 15 pounds shelled oats.

FLEAS AND LICE ON DOGS AND FOWLS.

W. B. McCain, Clermont, Fla.—A valuable bird dog is harassed by fleas, and although I have made a dip or solution in an ordinary washtub of crude carbolic acid, I have not rid my dog of the pests. Perhaps my water was not of proper strength with the acid. Would you kindly advise me in that regard? Can you, however, suggest a better remedy, if you know it; how to apply, what frequency, etc.?

Answer—The proper strength of the diluted carbolic acid is one part acid to fifty parts water, or even stronger up to two and a half parts acid to fifty parts water. Persian insect powder is excellent for dusting over the animals and also mats, rugs, etc., on which they have lain. Your mistake was doubtless in failing to go to the root of the insects, to wit, the hatching places of the insects, rugs, mats, cracks in floors and the baseboard and even the moist places about the yard ground. For this purpose powdered quicklime is excellent and the carbolic acid made 5 per cent strong is also good. Dip rugs and mats in boiling water and litter outbuildings and under houses with fresh pine shavings or green black walnut leaves. The same treatment answers for lice also. Whatever method is adopted it should be repeated in about a week.

Lice and fleas on chickens may be treated in the same way, but with even more care and thoroughness, especially as to the fowl house or roosting place. The floor of the poultry house should be thoroughly scraped off and covered with clean sand or road dust. The roosts and all loose pieces of wood should be removed and then the whole inside walls and the loose pieces should be well sprayed with a solution of 6 ounces of crude carbolic acid in one gallon of boiling water. At least once a year inside woodwork should be thoroughly whitewashed with lime made up with water containing 4 ounces of crude carbolic acid to the gallon. Of course the nests should receive the same attention. The sprightly appearance of the chickens was probably the result of your treatment and the fleas and lice again found on them were from the henhouse or roosting place. Examine the house and you will find it infested with several millions of these predacious insects. Finally, if you are a chicken fancier get a copy of Dr. Salmon's "Diseases of Poultry," from which I have gleaned most of what I have above written.

DIABETES INSIPIDUS OF MULE (?)

E. T. P. Arabi, Ga.—Please tell me what to do for a mile that gets plenty to eat, but does not fatten. He seems to have kidney trouble. His kidneys act twenty to thirty times every day and he is easy to give out.

Answer—You do not state whether the mule passes large quantities of urine or only small quantities very frequently. If he passes but small quantities—only a few drops sometimes—but very often and the urine is of high color, then the disease may be inflammation of the kidneys. But if the discharges are copious as well as frequent and of a clear color, then it is most probable that it is diabetes insipidus. In the former there is evidence of pain, the animal stands with hind legs wide apart, is stiff, back arched and he will groan when required to move, and rarely lies down. If the latter, there will be great thrist, depraved appetite (eating dirt, etc.) and emaciation. This condition is usually the result of bad, moldy hay, oats, straw, etc. The treatment is as follows: Give teaspoonful doses in a ball with bread crumb and syrup, or pint dissolved in a little alcohol and then diluted with one-half pint of water. Give three times a day. Usually two or three doses will stop it. Follow this with a teaspoonful of copperas in the mornings and same of phosphate of lime in the evenings in bran mash. Of course, the hay and grain must be sound and sweet.

Justice Lamar, Keystone of Peace Arch

JUSTICE JOSEPH R. LAMAR.

Justice Joseph R. Lamar, of the United States supreme court, is the dominant figure in the A. B. C. peace conference at Niagara Falls. Justice Lamar has from the first taken the leading part in attempting to straighten out the tangled affairs of the shot-riddled republic. If peace prevails it will be due mostly to his able methods of dealing with the delicate situation. He has been quoted as saying he had every reason to believe the negotiations would prove successful.

Business Is Improving Say Financial Reports

Many Optimistic Features to the Week's Trade, Says Bradstreet's Report.

Bradstreet's report says:

Good weather, except in parts of the south and southwest; continued active retail demand for spring and summer wearing apparel; improved demand from jobbers and wholesalers for cotton and other dress fabrics; further sales of basic pig iron; good reports on leading crops, excepting cotton, and the heaviest exports of wheat since January 15, constitute the distinctively favorable features of the week's trade report to Bradstreet's. In addition, the optimistic feeling previously noted in financial markets or voiced by leaders of industry seems to have gained force. Accompanying events are the steadiness of security prices at close to the highest levels of the year, and considerable speculative activity at higher prices in wheat, cotton, sugar and wool.

Demand for Labor.

Improved demand for labor to harvest the expected large crop of wheat, and predictions that the railroads will have the largest business in their history next fall, are other stimulating elements.

The reverse side of the picture is that while cereal crops continue to make good progress, cotton seems to have had a poor or late start, and excessive rains or the exact reverse of this, abnormally dry weather, render a clear view of prospetcs of this crop uncertain, if not doubtful. Then, too, the building trade shows little life; the demand for finished steel products is not equal to capacity; the railroads, imitating past operations in other lines, are only buying to cover immediate requirements, and the coal trade is dull despite the resumption of many mines. Collections show improvement in some sections, but are still a subject of complaint in various centers.

Money Growing Firmer.

Money seems to be growing firmer, country banks are freer borrowers, and preparations to move the crops are beginning to be felt in leading markets. Railroad operations are of good volume, though western loadings are reported a shade below May a year ago, but economics of operation are likely to result in better net returns than in earlier months. Clearings, affected by dullness in stock speculation, are below a year ago, taking the country as a whole, but show a gain when the total, exclusive of New York, is considered.

Good-sized takings on old orders and a fair volume of new business give a slightly better tone to hemlock leather at Boston. Union sole, various kinds of side leather and calfskins all show more life. Dealers in patent calfskins are behind on orders. Prices are firm. Hides are firm. Recent hot weather has improved retail trade, and jobbing lines show an impulse therefrom. Manufacturers report new business light, but many factories are busier than they have been for some tiem past.

Warm Weather Has Had Beneficial Effect on Nearly All Lines.

Dun's report says:

A period of continuous warm weather has had a beneficial effect upon practically all commercial lines, and is tending to offset the earlier handicap of a backward spring. The movement of seasonable goods, both at wholesale and retail, shows an encouraging increase and most reports indicate that confidence is steadily gaining strength. Low merchandise stocks at distributing centers, cheap money and the favorable crop outlook are the chief factors operating to create a more cheerful sentiment regarding the future. As yet, the usual statistical comparisons do not reflect the current business improvement, gross earnings of railroads making returns for three weeks of May being 7.4 per cent less than last year, while bank clearings this week were 5.6 per cent smaller than in 1913. In the latter case, however, the adverse exhibit was due mainly to the falling off at New York, as a result of the pronounced dullness in the securities markets.

Demand for Summer Clothes.

The influence of high temperatures is especially noticeable in summer wearing apparel, for which there has been quite an active demand at retail and this, in turn, affords stimulus to the jobbing trade. Advance fall orders for clothing are not up to expectations, but gratifying betterment is manifest in cotton goods, and the mills are well sold for the next six or eight weeks on staples. Recent transactions in print cloths at Fall River have shown a decided expansion, with the bulk of the contracts placed calling for forward delivery. Advices from New England indicate that firmness in wool is maintained, manufacturers releasing more business than dealers are prepared to accept. Betterment in footwear is increasingly apparent, and more machinery is in operation. Leather is not moving freely, but is in a strong position, as supplies of all kinds are limited.

Iron and Steel.

Although a more hopeful feeling is manifest in iron and steel, it being anticipated that conditions will improve during the second half of the year, the general situation remains quiet. New orders are still disappointing, principally because the railroads continue to pursue a policy of retrenchment and are buying only as the necessity arises. Developments in connection with foreign exchange again attracted attention, rates for sterling touching a new high level and further substantial amounts of gold being engaged for shipment to Paris. These continued withdrawals are causing no concern, inasmuch as money here is superabundant and banking reserves are unusually large. Notwithstanding the recent sharp rise, cotton again advanced on unfavorable crop news from the southwest; wheat took an opposite course and most of the commodities moved downward, 15 gains and 28 declines occurring this week in the 315 quotations compiled by Dun's Review.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Bank clearings in the United States for the past week, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $2,885,446,000, against $3,217,523,000 last week and $3,027,118,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $136,931,000, as against $167,099,000 last week and $149,033,000 in this week last year. WEEK OF ADVANCES IN COTTON MARKET

New Orleans, May 31.—It was a week of advances in the cotton market, althought profit taking by satisfied longs and by longs who did not care to carry their cotton over the coming bureau report on condition was something of a weight toward the end of the week. The best prices were reached on Thursday when the market stood 40 to 51 points over last week's close and the lowest prices were made on Monday when the market was 5 to 17 points under last week's finals. The net results of the trading of the week were a gain of 26 to 37 points.

The continued rains in Texas, the drouth in portions of the eastern belt and general belief in a bullish condition report were the main bullish influences. Against the market was the increasing long interest which bears maintained seriously weakened the technical position.

This week the market will receive during opening session the first condition report of the season, carrying the crop down to May 25. Conservative brokers look for around 78 per cent of the normal; most bulls look for rather lower figures, while bearish estimates are around 80. Probably it will take a report of under 78 to cause much of an advance.

More rains in the western belt and continued dry weather in the Atlantic would cause renewed buying this week because of the crop damage that would result. Any change for the better in the weather probably would be the signal for heavy selling for both accounts.

INDIFFERENCE SHOWN IN THE STOCK MARKET

New York, May 31.—The stock market pendulum vibrated narrowly last week, thus reflecting the indecision and almost total indifference of both speculators and investors. Such initiative as the market had came principally from abroad where sentiment was more impressed than here with the Mexican peace promise and the passage of the Irish home rule bill without disorder.

The foremost French financial authority holds that the Mexican situation has been largely responsible for the slackening of economic progress and of financial activity in the world at large which measures the financial importance attached in France to the prospect of settlement. The New York gold exports also have helped to clear the atmosphere abroad.

There was some subsidence of crop scare over Hessian fly damage and hopefulness was maintained over trade revival in the second half of the year. Some lines of manufacture reported all inquiries in hand for that period. The steel trade still failed to show concrete evidence of the expected betterment. The supreme court's decision in the "tap line" cases threatened delay in the rate decision. Steps to investigate other railroad financing offered prospects of more embarrassment akin to that of New Haven.

Uncertainty as to when the federal reserve system shall become operative exercised a restraining influence in all directions, both on business and speculation. The week also left a degree of suspense regarding the success of the plan for extending both the Missouri Pacific and Boston and Maine notes.

RAIN WORTH THOUSANDS FALLS IN CRISP COUNTY

Cordele, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—A heavy and general rain yesterday afternoon, the first that has fallen in this section for more than eight weeks, was a source of great relief to the farmers and was worth many thousand dollars to the crops of Crisp county, coming barely in time to save the corn crop from very severe damage. As a result of the long drouth the corn crop has already been badly stunted in growth, and while the cotton crop has suffered little, the rain will doubtless prove very beneficial to it.

BIDS WANTED

NOTICE TO BUILDING AND HEATING CONTRACTORS.

Bids will be received at the office of W. H. Nunnally, Chairman, until 12 o'clock Noon, June 18th, 1914, for the erection of church building for the Baptist Church in the City of Monroe, Georgia. Each bid for the building must be accompanied with a certified check in the amount of $1,000, as a guarantee that if awarded the contract the successful bidder will immediately enter into contract and execute and deliver a surety bond to indemnify said contract, in the amount of $15,000.

Heating contractors are required to comply with all of the above conditions except that the certified check with bid will be $300 and bond required $1,000.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Contractors wishing to bid on the above building are instructed to immediately file their application for drawings and specifications with W. A. Edwards, Architect, 622 Candler Building, Atlanta, Ga., accompanying same with a certified check in the amount of $25, payable to said architect, as a guarantee that the contractor will make a bona fide bid on the work and also as a guarantee that he will return the drawings to the architect immediately after the letting without cost to the architect.

Sub-contractors wishing a set of the drawings and specifications are required to pay the architect $10 cash for the use of same.

Drawings and specifications will be on file at the office of the Chairman, Monroe, Ga., in the office of the Builders' Exchange, Atlanta, and in the architect's office.

All bids and bid checks to be drawn in favor of Mr. W. H. Nunnally, Chairman.

By order of the Building Committee.
W. H. NUNNALLY,
Chairman.

NO END IN SIGHT TO COLORADO WAR

Sixty-Six Persons Killed. Money Loss Totals Millions—Over 1,000 U. S. Soldiers in the Strike Zone.

Denver, May 31.—Settlement of the Colorado coal strike apparently is no nearer realization now than it was weeks ago, according to statements by both union officials and mine operators today.

Sixty-six persons are known to have been killed and 48 wounded in the numerous battles and disorders since the miners went on strike September 23, 1913. Classified: 18 strikers, 10 mine guards, 19 mine employees, 2 militiamen, 3 non-combatants, 2 women and 12 children lost their lives. Twenty had been killed prior to April 20, the date of the battle of Ludlow. Forty-six were killed during that fight and the next ten days, when federal troops stopped the warfare.

The cost of the eight months' industrial conflict is variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. The figures include $700,000 the state spent in maintaining state troops in the field until the arrival of the federal forces; an estimated cost of $6,925,000 to the union and a loss of "several millions" claimed by operators. At present 1,717 United States troops are guarding the mining properties.

Number of Men at Work.

Figures compiled by James Dalrymple, state coal mine inspector, show there were employed in Colorado coal mines for the first three months of 1914 an average of 10,149 miners, as compared with 14,035 for the same period in 1913. The total production for the first three months of 1914 was 2,817,675 tons, against 3,638,436 tons for the same period a year ago.

From the same source it was learned there were 12,346 men working in the mines last September when the strike was called; 7,696 in October, the first full month following the strike, and 10,146 in March, 1914. Against these figures stand the claims of John R. Lawson, member of the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, that approximately 11,000 men quit work in response to the strike call last September and that about 8,500 men still are on strike. He attributes the decrease to men leaving the state, adding that "fed have gone back to work, their loss being more than offset by those who have joined the strikers."

At headquarters of the operators, this statement was given out:

"It has been impossible to obtain an accurate census of the men on strike, but fair approximation places the number at 2,000 at this time. The number of mines in operation now is 141, as compared with 148 last September."

Demands of the Strikers.

The original demands of the United Mine Workers of America may be summarized as follows:

Recognition of the union; a 10 per cent advance in wages; an eight-hour day; pay for "narrow and dead work;" check weighman; the right to trade where desired; enforcement of state mining laws and abolishment of the guard system.

"There has been no change in the nature of the demands, since the strike was called," said John R. Lawson, union leader. "I do not know of any prospects of a settlement. The miners never will go back to work without recognition of the union, if they follow my advice.

"The right to organize, an eight-hour day, check weighmen and the right to select trading an dboarding places, are state laws, but they are not enforced."

Holding that the chief demands of the United Mine Workers, with the exception of union recognition are guaranteed by statute, the operators maintain their original position, namely: Refusal to treat with representatives of the United Mine Workers or recognize the union. They reiterate a willingness to meet employees for the adjustment of grievances.

Three suits are pending in the United States district court at Pueblo on civil and criminal charges growing out of the strike and a score or more docketed in district courts where the strike has centered.

SUNDAY BAN ON SODA DEFIED IN WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—With representatives of the Civic league on hand securing evidence for prosecution of alleged violations of the Sunday law, the movement to get the Sunday lid off in Waycross gained new strength today when several more places started selling soft drinks. Extra help was employed to supply the thirsty with cold drinks.

It is reported tonight that warrants will be sworn out tomorrow for all druggists who disposed of drinks today and it is not unlikely that the league will seek to stop the sale of cigars, newspapers and everything but ice and milk on Sunday.

PERJURY CHARGES BASIS OF SERMON

Referring to Conflicting Affidavits in Frank Case, Dr. Ogden Preaches on "Sanctity of Truth."

Taking as a motive for his sermon the multiplicity of conflicting affidavits and the various perjury charges in the Frank case, Dr. Dunbar Ogden preached upon "The Sanctity of Truth" last night at the Central Presbyterian church.

His sermon was entirely aside from the merits of the case which suggested it, and was based altogether upon his deduction that "when oaths multiply it is a sign that truth is falling."

"Lawful and earnest people," said Dr. Ogden, "cannot help but be impressed with the sanctity of truth, in looking upon the revelations of recent days in connection with this great case. The most stupid and careless can see the lesson that is to be learned. It is time that thoughtful people consider the sanctity of truth and do not trifle too long."

Truth, the Real Issue.

After touching upon the irresponsible press, Dr. Ogden divided his sermon into three thoughts, the first of which developed the use of the oath as a buttress of truth. "The real issue," he said, "is not the number of oaths but truth. The oath is used merely to make men consider and be careful in the statements they make. It is to make men realize that they are speaking in the very presence of God Himself."

Dr. Ogden outlined the Biblical history and meaning of the word oath.

The second thought brought out was the necessity of every man so holding the sanctity of truth as to make his words what Christ would have him make them, namely: "Let your yea be yea and your nay, nay." "That is," said Dr. Ogden, "let your word be as good as your oath."

"When a man begins his remarks by saying 'To tell you the truth,' 'frankly' or 'without reservation,'" continued Dr. Ogden, "I look upon that man with suspicion. His very words make me believe that he has not always told the truth."

Small Chance for Liar.

His third point was the necessity of telling the truth on all occasions. "No lie, the opinion of many to the contrary," he said, "is ever justifiable." Dr. Ogden explained that he did not mean that a man should blurt out a brutal truth without provocation, but that when it comes to a pinch where a man finds himself confronted with telling either the truth or a lie, there is but one course and that is to tell the truth regardless of where or how hard the blow that is bound in it may fall.

"If you admit that a human being may tell a lie when his judgment dictates, where in this world will one ever find a ground for truth? Is there ground anywhere if we surrender the ground that a man should always tell the truth?"

Attacks Modern Sophistry.

Dr. Ogden made a scathing attack upon modern sophistry.

"One of the greatest evil of today," he said, "is social sophistry. The veneer and varnish of some circles of modern society, the absolute lack of sincerity, is a wretched and deplorable condition. Insofar as truth is concerned, modern sophistry places us upon dangerous quicksands.

"My plea for a high regard for the sanctity of truth is not that of a dreamer, but one which touches the fundamentals of our life."

FOUR PERSONS DROWNED IN THE TEXAS FLOODS

Dallas, Texas, May 31.—Reports tonight from points along the Colorado, Brazos and Nueces rivers in Texas, where it was feared yesterday that the streams, swollen by heavy rains would be forced from their banks, indicate that the water is slowly receding and danger of a serious overflow is believed over.

Four persons lost their lives as a result of the flood. In LaSalle county the family of Louis N. Wunder were marooned in their dwelling three days. Yesterday a 3-year-old child fell from an upstairs window of the house and was drowned. Grace Woodward, the same age, was drowned when a wagon in which she and her parents were attempting to ford a creek near Lyons City was overturned. The others drowned were negroes.

Near Abilene two coaches of a Wichita Valley passenger train were derailed while the train was being backed away from a trestle which the engineer deemed unsafe to cross.

At Waco, where much concern was felt last night, the reinforced levees held the Brazos river within bounds.

KIDNEY OR BLADDER WEAK?

Just Mix Juniper and Buchu. Old Folks' Receipt.

The symptoms of diseased kidneys and bladder: Scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage of urine; forehead and the back-off-the-head aches; stitches and pains in the back; growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and despondency, Diabetes, Bright's Disease. The moment you have any of the above symptoms or a dull backache and rheumatic twinges, get from any reliable druggist a 14-oz. bottle of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper. Take a tablespoonful after meals. Drink plenty of pure, fresh water and abstain from eating sugar, sweets or highly-seasoned foods. Your kidneys and bladder will then act fine and natural. Stuart's Buchu and Juniper has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer hurts you to pass water.—(adv.)

MORTUARY

Professor J. W. Hart, Athens.

Athens, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The body of Professor J. William Hart, formerly prominent as a member of the co-operative system of extension work by the federal government and the state college of agriculture here, and recently placed in charge of the extensive estates of the Jekyl Island club, was brought to Athens this afternoon and the funeral was conducted from Emmanuel church, Rev. Troy Beattie officiating. The pall-bearers were from among his fellow vestrymen and associates on the faculty of the state college; other prominent citizens and teachers were honorary pall-bearers. The interment was in Oconee cemetery—for though natives of Canada, and having had homes in many parts of the world, the family surviving him will make Athens their home.

W. J. Clark, Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., May 31.—At Grace Episcopal church this afternoon the funeral service of W. J. Clark, who died at his home here Friday afternoon, was conducted by Rev. C. H. B. Turner. Members of Alee Temple of Shriners, of which the deceased was a member, acted as pallbearers, and Knight Templars formed an honorary escort. The Masonic Blue lodge conducted the Masonic funeral service at the grave. From the Elks, Moose and Order of Railway Conductors, as well as from the Masons, members attended in bodies. The members of the Waycross baseball team attended in a body also. The deceased was president of the local baseball association, heading the organization from the very first, and being re-elected again this year.

Mrs. R. C. Harris, Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., May 31.—Early today Mrs. R. C. Harris died at her home here after several months' illness, with pellagra. She is survived by her husband and three children, two daughters and a son; her mother, Mrs. S. B. Goodwin; four sisters, Mrs. W. R. Hunter, of Macon; Mrs. H. R. Davis, Misses Annie and Jessie Goodwin, of Waycross, and four brothers, Herman, Alfred, Luther and Thomas, also of Waycross, survive. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church, interment to be at Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mrs. B. A. Logan, Thomasville.

Thomasville, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) The body of Mrs. Berta A. Logan, who died here yesterday, was carried this morning to her former home near Smithville for interment. Mrs. Logan had been ill for several weeks, but it was hoped until a short time before her death that she would recover. She had been a resident of Thomasville for several years, and is survived by two children, Mrs. Ernest P. Cox of Atlanta, and Earl Glover of this city.

C. Lee Betz, Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) The remans of C. Lee Betz, formerly of Columbus, who died during the past week at Denver, Colo., were brought to this city and funeral services were conducted here by Rev. J. O. Grogan, of Montgomery, and Rev. O. B. Chester, of Columbus. Mr. Betz spent the last few years of his life in Montgomery, where he was well known in business circles, and a delegation of friends from that city accompanied the remains to Columbus.

Michael Iob, Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Michael Iob, a native of Bavaria, but for the past sixty years a resident of this city, died here Saturday. Coming to this country in 1850, he lived near New York city for two years, resided in Charleston, S. C., two years, and has lived here ever since. His wife, now dead, was a native of Alsace, France. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Frances J. and Miss Mary H. Iob.

Mrs. Roberta Moreland.

Mrs. Roberta Moreland, aged 63 years, died Sunday morning at 1 o'clock at her residence, 52 York avenue. She is survived by one son, R. A. Moreland; one daughter, Miss Claudie Moreland; two sisters, Mrs. E. S. Humphries and Mrs. N. S. Hardis, and two brothers, John L. and J. J. Moreland. Funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence, and interment will be in West View.

Mrs. M. J. Leffingwell.

Mrs. M. J. Leffingwell, aged 87 years, died last night at the residence, 175 Forrest avenue. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. John Swain, and a son, W. W. Leffingwell. Funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. M. R. Davis, Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The funeral of Mrs. Martha R. Davis, who died Thursday in Atlanta, took place today from the Church of the Holy Family. Mrs. Davis was the mother of Mrs. Charles J. Rickeley, of Columbus.

August Flesh.

The funeral of August Flesh will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from Patterson's chapel, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery. He was a member of the Fulton lodge of Masons, No. 216, who will have charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Willie Mae Levi.

Mrs. Willie Mae Levi, of Atlanta, died Friday in Hendersonville, N. C. She was 32 years old. The body will arrive this morning and be taken to Patterson's chapel. She is survived by her husband, Joseph E. Levi.

Mrs. E. L. Gilphin.

Mrs. E. L. Gilphin, aged 35 years, died Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at her residence, 68 Strong street. She is survived by her husband, mother, two brothers and one sister. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Annie Louisa White.

Annie Louisa White, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White, died at the family residence, 226 Stewart avenue, Sunday afternoon. Funeral announcement will be made later.

D. Ray Stauffacher.

The funeral of D. Ray Stauffacher will be held from Patterson's chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and interment will take place in West View.

ROME TOT TAKES MERCURY TABLETS; PUMP SAVES LIFE

Rome, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The prompt use of a stomach pump last night saved the life of Mary Pritchard, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pritchard, of the fifth ward. The child had swallowed two bichloride of mercury tablets.

When left alone for a moment the little girl found her way to the medicine chest, and her mother, in search of her, was horrified to see her swallow the tablets, crying delightedly, "Candy, candy." Physicians were immediately summoned and the poison was removed from the child's stomach before its deadly work could begin. The little girl was rendered violently ill by the use of emetics, but has recovered without bad effects.

CARRANZA PROVES STUMBLING BLOCK

that this government still was firmly of the mind that no protocol which would outline terms of settlement of the general political affairs of Mexico, should be signed until agents of General Carranza had been given an opportunity to participate in the deliberations.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan conferred briefly late in the day, and it was understood communications were forwarded to Commissioners Lamar and Lehmann, at Niagara Falls. The belief in official circles here tonight was that the publication of the Carranza note, to the mediators and the mediators' answer might be delayed for some days, pending further efforts on the part of this government to assure constitutionalist representation at Niagara Falls.

When Luis Cabrera, whom General Carranza hurriedly summoned from Europe, reached Washington, he was met by Rafael Zubaran Capmany, minister of the interior in the Carranza cabinet, and Jose Vasconcelos, a second emissary of the constitutionalist leader.

Concerned About Mediation.

The three were together throughout the day. The constitutionalist agents refused to discuss their deliberations, but it became known they were chiefly concerned with the Niagara Falls conference. Cabrera and Vasconcelos, it was reiterated tonight, probably would go to Niagara Falls as delegates for the constitutionalists, should the mediators determine to admit agents of General Carranza's forces.

It was said tonight that no answer had come to the Carranza note dispatched Thursday in which the mediators were informed the conflict in Mexico ought not to be dealt with in the absence of constitutionalist representatives. Should invitation be extended to the constitutionalists to take part in the conferences, it is understood the constitutionalist representatives would ask time to visit General Carranza for instructions before appearing at Niagara Falls.

While not officially informed about what is going on at the falls or the names of Mexicans considered for the provisional government, the three constitutionalist leaders plainly were interested in Felix Diaz and Vasquez Gomez. They apparently believe Diaz and Gomez may be under consideration by the mediators. They do not look upon Diaz at all with favor, but speak more favorably of Gomez, who is regarded as in sympathy with the constitutionalist movement, although more or less a neutral in the present struggle.

MISSING MESSENGER FOUND IN MEXICO CITY

Washington, May 31.—The Brazilian minister in Mexico City informed the state department today that Garcia Muro, Rear Admiral Fletcher's missing Cuban messenger, had been located in the Mexican capital and was planning to return to Vera Cruz. While no importance was attached to the messenger's disappearance, there was some speculation as to his whereabouts. The Brazilian envoy also reported that he expected to locate Captain Rush's Filipino servant soon.

HUNGER AND THIRST CAUSED AT MAZATLAN

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 30, by Wireless via Santiago, May 31.—The water famine which the constitutionalists besieging Mazatlan have been seeking to precipitate in that city is in full swing. Tonight the electric light plant shut down from lack of water, adding materially to the discomforts and dangers of the siege.

The advantage to the constitutionalists of the resultant darkness was shown almost immediately by the cutting out of three barges loaded with the provisions which were destined for the starving federals and the power launch which was towing them.

Reliable reports today from Guadalajara were that all federal troops there except a fatigued garrison of 250 men have been withdrawn to Mexico City. Barbed wire entanglements have been run around the city.

A Red Cross hospital ship is badly needed on the west coast.

SUNDAY BOND REFUSED FOR GERMAN STEAMERS

Vera Cruz, May 31.—The Hamburg-American steamer Ypiranga was still at her dock today, the collector of customs, Captain Herman O. Stickney having refused to accept bond for the Ypirana and the Bavaria, proferred by Karl Heynen, general agent of the company in Mexico, because it was drawn on Sunday. The bond was executed and consul Canada's seal affixed, however, and the Ypiranga probably will sail for Havana tomorrow.

The fines levied on the two vessels for landing arms and ammunitions at Puerto Mexico amount to more than 1,000,000 pesos, covering numerous infractions of the Mexican regulations.

When the company agent, the Ypiranga's captain and Collector Stickney's representative reached the American consulate to have the bond sealed, Consul Canada said that once, in his youth, he had been victimized in a Sunday horse trade, and the court refused him damages because it was a Sunday trade. Lieutenant Elliott, representing the collector, appreciating the point of the consul's story, hastily left the consulate, and when the Germans arrived at the customs house Collector Stickney expressed regret that he was not certain the Mexican regulations made documents executed on Sunday valid, and preferred to wait until Monday to accept the bond.

REBELS OPEN PORTS TO WORLD COMMERCE

Durango, Mexico, May 31.—General Venustiano Carranza today issued a notice declaring Tampico, Tuxpam and Matamoros officially opened to the commerce of the world. He also notified steamships plying to these ports that they must continue arrangements for service made with the Madero government, or contracts and concessions granted them will be annulled. These arrangements have been continued under the Huerta government.

The object of Carranza's order was to prevent the companies abandoning regular sailings to these ports now that they are in constitutionalist control. Announcement of General Carranza's cabinet and declaration of principle will be made soon at Saltillo. The organization of a cabinet is taken as an indication that the constitutionalist commander-in-chief believes operations against Huerta are approaching completion.

Carranza soon will go to Saltillo to establish a civil government. His entry into that city will have a sentimental significance to him, as it was there a little more than a year ago he, as governor of Coahuila, organized the constitutionalist movement.

Telegraphic communication has been resumed direct to Vera Cruz, Monterey, Torreon and Saltillo from Durango.

General Candido Aquilar, recently commanding the forces at Tuxpam, has been named governor of the state of Vera Cruz.

Preaches at Cedartown.

Cedartown, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) Dr. C. E. Pattillo, pastor of the West Point, Ga., Methodist church, preached the annual commencement sermon of the Cedartown public schools this morning at 11 o'clock at the Lyceum theater. He was greeted by a large audience and held their closest attention, all the way through his able and powerful sermon.

Carroll Carriers Meet.

Carrollton, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The Carroll County rural Letter Carriers' association met here yesterday. H. B. Meador was elected president for the ensuing year; J. W. Hamill was elected vice president, and Paul Cobb secretary and treasurer. A. W. Alexander and E. H. Cobb were elected delegates to the state convention.

Cordele Cop Shocked.

Cordele, Ga., May 31.—J. O. Attaway, a policeman, and several other persons were slightly shocked, a horse knocked down by the bolt, and about one-fourth of the entire city thrown into darkness last night, when, during the heavy rain, lightning struck an electric light pole in the business section.

Arms and Murder.

(From The Chicago Record-Herald.)

One of the questions before the Colorado legislature is that of giving the governor authority to regulate and prohibit the sale, gift or purchase of firearms and ammunition, except by proper authorities, in times of internal disorder.

Passing over the proposed grant of power to the governor the question of restricting the sale of firearms is one that concerns the whole country. In Colorado citizens belonging to factions in an industrial and labor dispute have bought arms apparently quite as easily as they might have bought household supplies. As a result law was given away to anarchy and battles have been fought. In Chicago gunmen exist as an institution. Day after day murders are reported as part of the regular news and the instrument of murder is the ready revolver or a sawed-off shotgun. Instead of battles like those in Colorado, we have what are called duels. But whatever the term used in the one place or the other, it is a crime that is committed and the crime is murder.

If the deadly weapons were not passed around as freely as playthings a much smaller number of the encounters would result fatally. Nor is this all. The mere possession of the weapons is an incentive to truculence and violence.

That Bloodhound Myth.

(From The Los Angeles Tribune.)

Bloodhounds were set on the trail of a lank robber in Pennsylvania and of course they failed, as they always do.

There are reasons for believing that this breed once chased the colored slave with tolerable success, but this seems to have been its limit.

Hundreds of times the fact has been chronicled that bloodhounds had been put on the trail of some fugitive, but that they ever caught the fugitive or led to his hiding place is so rare an item that no newspaper ever printed it yet.
